The government charged today that continuing the Pentagon papers that produced opinions and were "disseminated" to the New York Times constituted "the most serious and deliberate" violation of the Espionage Laws.

The court's action, announced today, reversed the decision of the District of Columbia court that had barred the Washington Post from publishing the Pentagon papers. The court's decision was based on the fact that the Pentagon papers were not classified as "top secret" and therefore were not subject to the same restrictions as those papers.
