

The Bell of Atri

In the old Italian town of Atri, the King bought a fine, large bell and hung it in the marketplace tower. A long rope that reached the ground was attached to the bell. The smallest child could ring the bell by pulling the rope. "It shall be the Bell of Justice," said the King. The bell gave the people of Atri cause for a great holiday. Everyone came to the marketplace to admire the Bell of Justice. "Perhaps the King will ring it," said the people, waiting to see what the King would do.

But The King did not ring the bell; he stopped and raised his hand. "My people", he said, "this bell is yours, but you must never use it except in times of need. When it rings, the judges shall come together at once, hear the case, and give justice. Rich and poor, young and old, it doesn't matter, all will be judged equally." Many times, through the years, the bell in the marketplace called the judges. Many troubles were corrected, and criminals answered for their crimes.

As time passed, the thick rope grew so thin and short that only a tall man could reach it. "This will never do," said the judges one day. "What if a child should find himself in trouble?" The judges gave orders that a new rope should be hung down to the ground. But no lengthy rope could be found in all of Atri. They sent across the mountains for one, but it would be weeks before it arrived. What if some great trouble should happen before it came?

"Let me fix it for you," said a man nearby. He ran into his garden and came back with a strong vine. "This will do for a rope," he said, climbing the bell tower to tie the vine to the bell. The vine easily reached the ground. "Yes," said the judges, "that will do." On the hills above the village, there lived a man who had once been a Knight, visiting foreign lands and waging battles. His companion through all that time was his Loyal Horse.

As the Knight grew older, he sought only gold. He sold all that he had, except his Loyal Horse. Day after day, he sat in his little house among his moneybags and planned how he might get more gold. Day after day, the Loyal Horse stood outside the Knight's house, starving and teeth
