World Monarchies and Dynasties John Middleton, 2015-06-01 Throughout history royal dynasties have dominated countries and empires around the world Kings queens emperors chiefs pharaohs czars whatever title they ruled by monarchs have shaped institutions rituals and cultures in every time period and every corner of the globe The concept of monarchy originated in prehistoric times and evolved over centuries right up to the present Efforts to overthrow monarchies or evade their rule such as the American French Chinese and Russian revolutions are considered turning points in world history Even today many countries retain their monarchies

although in vastly reduced form with little political power One cannot understand human history and government without understanding monarchs and monarchies This fully illustrated encyclopedia provides the first complete survey of all the major rulers and ruling families of the world past and present No other reference work approaches the topic with the same sense of magnitude or connection to historical context Arranged in A Z format for ease of access World Monarchies and Dynasties includes information on major monarchs and dynasties from ancient time to the present This set includes overviews of reigns and successions genealogical charts and dynastic timelines addresses concepts problems and theories of monarchy provides background and information for further research highlights important places structures symbols events and legends related to particular monarchs and dynasties includes a master bibliography and multiple indexes Dealing with the Visual Caroline van Eck,Edward Winters,2017-11-30 One of the issues underlying current debates between practitioners of art history visual culture and aesthetics is whether the visual is a unique irreducible category or whether it can be assimilated with the textual or verbal without any significant loss Can paintings buildings or installations be read in the way texts are read or deciphered or do works of visual art ask for their own kind of appreciation This is not only a question of choosing the right method in dealing with visual works of art but also an issue that touches on the roots of the disciplines involved can a case be made for the visual as an irreducible category of art and if so how is it best studied and appreciated In this anthology this question is approached from the angles of three disciplines aesthetics visual culture and art history Unlike many existing overviews of visual culture studies it includes both painting and architecture and investigates historical ways of defining and appreciating the visual in their own contemporary terms Dealing with the Visual will be of great use to advanced students because it offers an overview of current debates and to graduate students and professionals in the field because the essays offer in depth investigations of the methodological issues involved and various historical ways of defining visuality The topics included range from early modern ways of viewing pictures and sixteenth century views of Palladio s villas in their landscape settings to contemporary debate about whether there is life yet in painting Consuming Ancient Egypt Sally MacDonald,Michael Rice,2016-06-16 Consuming Ancient Egypt examines the influence of Ancient Egypt on the everyday lives of contemporary people of all ages throughout the world It looks at the Egypt tourist sees Egypt in film and Egypt as the inspiration for opera It asks why so many books are published each year on Egyptological subjects at all levels from the austere academic to the riotous celebrations of Egypt as a land of mystery enchantment and fantasy It then considers the ways in which Ancient Egypt interacts with the living world in architecture museum going the acquisition of souvenirs and reproductions design and the perpetual appeal of the mummy The significance of Egypt as an adjunct to and frequently the subject of marketing in the consumer society is examined It reveals much about Egypt s immemorial appeal and the psychology of those who succumb to its magic Personal States Catherine Alexander,2002 Catherine Alexander charts how Turkish people both within and outside the state bureaucracy attempt to personalise the impersonality of the state Based on a detailed study of the nationalized Turkish Sugar Corporation she considers how people from the highest levels of the state bureaucracy to farming villages understand the state and how in turn they imagine themselves to be perceived The narratives and metaphors used in these constructions draw on resources close to hand such as the material organization of state factory compounds state personnel encountered in the course of everyday life and the image of the family structure By also exploring notions of state and personhood within the highest echelons of the administration itself Alexander shows how ideas of the state recede once one is actually within For officials the state becomes other institutions and Ministries with which they have little contact The continual process of striving to make connections with other groups and people occurs both at all hierarchical levels of the Sugar Corporation and between farmers and factory engineers This elegant nuanced ethnography of modernity will cause scholars of state institutions across a broad range of disciplines radically to rethink what the state actually is and the relations that create it thus taking understandings of the state to an entirely new level
