Spirit Of Wood:

Spirit of Wood Farish Noor, Eddin Khoo, 2012-11-27 With dozens of beautiful photographs and extensive text this Malaysian art book is a testament to the skill and spirituality of Malaysia's traditional woodcarvers. Wood has always played a significant role in the Malay world including the Malay Peninsula as a means of shelter, livelihood, comfort and convenience. Among the living arts of Malaysia, woodcarving is one of the oldest and for centuries woodcarvers enjoyed a prestige that few others did. A master woodcarver was not simply an artist. He had a mystical affinity with his material and through his art he could unlock channel and enhance the semangat or life force inherent in the wood. His works were sought after not only for their beauty but also for the symbolic power and meaning they embodied. In particular, the keris considered the pinnacle of woodcarver's art. Each of the pieces in this catalog of Malaysian art illustrates a specific motif, use of a pattern or form or interpretation of a legend. The woodcarvings range from extremely important and rare pieces such as royal ceremonial objects to wood panels, household objects and elements of traditional Malay architecture.

Journal of Physical Science, 1867     God's Bits of Wood Ousmane Sembène, 1995 God's Bits of Wood is a fictionalized account of the Dakar-Niger train strikes which took place in the 1940s. The novel looks at both the political and personal sacrifices the strikers and their families made. The political power is portrayed here as the strikers try to win back pensions, annual paid vacations and family allowances from the Europeans. The novel can be seen as a shift of power between the African strikers and their European bosses. The Europeans have the political process and violence as a leverage of power which they use both insistently and mindlessly. One of the European delegates for the railway company accidentally shoots young boys who are playing along the tracks The delegate isn't charged with their murders The Europeans also prevent the strikers and their families from having access to water Yet the strikers also have the masses as their power The strikers gain powerful allies in their own women In the beginning of the novel the women are not told the details of the strike though they are asked to support their men Only the small child Adjibidi shows any interest and insists that her grandfather take her to a meeting of the strikers Yet as the novel continues the women become more and more involved in the strike This is because the strike has hit home to them in a literal way There is no water nor food to eat The women and children begin to starve The women suffer in silence until they begin to fight back Two of the more striking sequences in the novel are the siege between the women of Ni Diayene and the policemen who have come to arrest Ramatoulaye and leads to the burning down of the village and the march the women go on to Dakar to protest their treatment and to support the strikers The strike breaks down the barriers which cause inequality between men and women black and white from www.associatedcontent.com Oct 22 2010      The Chemical News and Journal of Physical Science ,1868      The Philosophical Magazine ,1799
