Squandering Eden Africa At The Edge:

Squandering Eden Mort Rosenblum, Doug Williamson, 1987 Squandering Eden Mort Rosenblum, Doug Williamson, 1988 Beschrijving van het continent Afrika waarbij de problemen van elk land afzonderlijk aan de orde komen Africa Air University (U.S.). Library, 1988 Africa & the Middle East Kevin Hillstrom, Laurie Collier Hillstrom, 2003-11-17 A concise yet thorough overview of the environmental issues problems and controversies facing the continent of Africa and the Middle East Examining both the rich biological heritage of the world s second largest continent and the very serious human threats to it Africa and the Middle East explores the impact global pollution and a burgeoning population are having on landscape and wildlife alike How is global warming responsible for the rapidly expanding Sahara Desert Can local populations be recruited to preserve threatened species Over 80 percent of Madagascar s species are endemic the highest percentage of any major ecological region in the world such as the highly endangered aye aye which resembles a cross between a monkey a bat and a woodpecker and the giraffe necked weevil a red rainforest insect with a neck like a fire truck rescue ladder Readers will learn all about these fascinating species and much more At the Hand of Man Raymond Bonner, 2013-02-20 Defying conventional wisdom even as it makes an impassioned plea for moral common sense this book by an award winning journalist sheds a new light on the history and politics of the African conservation movement The book will anger and inspire anyone who cares about African wildlife and the people whose future is intertwined with the fate of these animals Earthly Goods Fen Osler Hampson, Judith Reppy, 2018-09-05 Global environmental change raises profound moral issues with which society has only begun to grapple What does fairness mean in dividing responsibilities for problems of global warming between rich and poor nations Does the environment itself have moral standing and if so how should its conflicts with the interests of people who depend on the land for their livelihood be resolved How can the interests of the poor of indigenous peoples and of future generations be properly accommodated in a political discourse about environmental policy which is dominated by industrialized states This book extends the debate both within and across disciplines engaging philosophers geographers political scientists economists sociologists and environmental activists from four continents The essays address the role of science in global change and argue that western science does not provide morally disinterested solutions to environmental problems They discuss the role of state and substate actors in the international politics of the environment and then use accounts of actual negotiations to argue for the centrality of social justice in reaching desirable and equitable agreements They conclude that a framework for social justice under conditions of global environmental change must include community values and provide for participatory structures to arbitrate among competing interests The Gospel Unhindered Doug Priest Jr., 2000-01-01 This book deals with issues such as current approaches to Bible translation churches undergoing persecution spiritual warfare and animists and the possibility of a greater understanding between Muslims and Christians All discussions use the book of Acts as their starting point The various contributors explore these and other issues from their years of experience in over fifteen countries

Life and Death Matters Barbara Rose Johnston, 2016-06-03 The first edition of Life and Death Matters was a breakthrough text centralizing the experiences of those on the front lines of environmental crises and forging new paradigms for understanding how crises emerge and how different groups of actors respond to them This second edition fully updated with both expanded and new chapters once again provides a benchmark for the field and opens important pathways for further research Authors reassess the state of scholarship and grassroots activism in a new century when social and environmental systems are being reconceptualised within post 9 11 security and biosecurity frameworks when global warming and resource scarcity are not fears but realities when global power and politics are being realigned and when ecocide ethnocide and genocide are daily tragedies This bold new edition of Life and Death Matters will be a widely used textbook and essential reading for students scholars and policy makers

United States - Africa Security Relations Kelechi A. Kalu, George Kieh, 2013-11-07 United States Africa relations have experienced four major cycles The first cycle was during the Cold War 1960 1990 During this period the U S developed a one sided relationship with various African states in which the latter served as foot soldiers for the U S in its competition with the Soviet Union for global domination Among other things the various client African states provided the U S with access to airfields deep water ports and sites for the establishment of various intelligence gathering facilities In addition the U S used various groups like UNITA led by Jonas Savimbi in Angola to undermine and fight pro Soviet regimes on the continent The second cycle of the relationship covered the period 1991 1998 During this time the U S scaled down its security activities in Africa The major reason was that with the end of the Cold War Africa with few exceptions like Egypt was no longer a major front for the promotion of U S Security interests The third cycle commenced in 1998 and ended in 2001 This period was characterized by the U S search for an approach to frame its security relations with Africa In this vein the U S undertook various military security initiatives The fourth cycle began after the 9 11 terrorist attacks against the American homeland Since then the U S has expanded the scope of its security relations with Africa as reflected in the establishment of various initiatives and programs At the core is the prosecution of the American war on terror Against this backdrop this book examines some of the major dimensions of the U S security relations with Africa including American security interests on the continent the war on terror AFRICOM and military cooperation Using the book s integrative theoretical framework each of the chapters in the volume examines the various factors that shape the issue of focus

Progress Or Collapse Roberto De Vogli, 2013 In Progress or Collapse Roberto De Vogli guides us through the multiple converging global crises of economic progress He explores the connections between the environmental crisis and the psychological social cultural political and economic emergencies affecting modern societies It is not a coincidence the author argues that global ecological destruction is occurring in tandem with other crises rising mental disorders mindless consumerism rampant conformism status competition civic disengagement startling social inequalities global financial instability and widespread political impasse Rural Poverty, Migration, and the Environment in Developing Countries Richard E. Bilborrow, 1992 Case studies of the links between highlands and lowlands in Latin America of transmigration in Indonesia and of migration and desertification in the Sudan illustrate the relationship between poverty internal migration and environmental change in rural areas of developing countries Understanding and Rebuilding Africa B. J. Van der Walt, 2003 Regrettably there is still in spite of modern communications a serious lack of insight into the socio economic political situation of the African continent both from outsiders and Africans themselves This title addresses this problem

Ecologies of Community in Performance Karen Savage, Dominic Symonds, 2025-10-02 In their previous book Economies of Collaboration in Performance Savage and Symonds explored the economy as a metaphor for understanding collaborative practices in the arts This book Ecologies of Community in Performance continues to explore arts practices focusing on communities and turning to the language of ecology to understand the complexities and working dynamics of arts communities The book provides a thoughtful analysis of how communities work as ecologies offering case studies of community processes by way of illustrating the main discussion In doing so it reveals how the triangulation of ecology community and performance allows for a deeper understanding of dynamic relations in the arts enabling scholars practitioners and policy makers to better conceptualise ecological thinking in relation to 21st century arts practices The A to Z of the Non-Aligned Movement and Third World Guy Arnold, 2010-04-06 During the long period when the world was divided between East and West and the Cold War threatened to turn hot with devastating consequences the Non Aligned Movement was one of the few institutions that consistently sought other outcomes not in its own interest but that of all humanity Consisting of over 100 states that are free of any formal alliances with any major power bloc the Non Aligned Movement provides aid to those countries striving to gain independence eliminate poverty and develop their economy Just what the Non Aligned Movement and Third World sought and at times achieved is set forth in this unique reference work with its over 200 cross referenced dictionary entries on important persons organizations and conferences as well as the key issues and concepts Entries are supported by an extensive chronology an introduction to the movement and a bibliography for further research Out of the Earth Daniel Hillel, 1992-09-30 A moving tribute to the physical and spiritual properties of nature s richest element by one of the world s leading soil conservationists Bibliographic Index, 1988 The Edge of the Plain James Crawford, 2023-01-10 A wide ranging journey through the history of borders and an exploration of their role in shaping our world today Since the earliest known marker denoting the edge of one land and the beginning of the next a stone column inscribed with Sumerian cuneiform borders have been imagined mapped moved and fought over In The Edge of the Plain James Crawford skillfully blends history travel writing and reportage to trace these borderlines throughout history and across the globe What happens on the ground when we impose lines on a map that contradict how humans have always lived and moved Crawford confronts that question from bloody territorial disputes in Mesopotamia to the S pmi lands of

Scandinavia the shifting boundaries of the Israel Palestine conflict efforts to build a wall on the United States Mexico border and the dangerous border crossings pursued by migrants into Europe And yet the role of borders extends beyond specific sites of conflict On the largest scale borders define the limits of empire the two walls in Britain that once represented the northwestern edge of the Roman Empire the mythological eastern gate supposedly closed off by Alexander the Great China s virtual Great Firewall On the smallest human scale cell walls are the last physical barrier against disease after lines of quarantine have failed Finally as The Edge of the Plain reveals humans have not only made their mark on the landscape the landscape itself is now changing more and more rapidly due to climate change Crawford introduces us to both the Alpine watershed one such shifting natural borderline and the Great Green Wall in Africa envisioned as an international community built bulwark against desertification Borders are as old as human civilization and focal points for today s colliding forces of nationalism climate change globalization and mass migration The Edge of the Plain illuminates these lines of separation past and present how we define them and how they define us

Conservation of Exploited Species John D. Reynolds, 2001-10-18

The use of wildlife for food and other human needs poses one of the greatest threats to the conservation of biodiversity Wildlife exploitation is also critically important to many people from a variety of cultures for subsistence and commerce This book brings together international experts to examine interactions between the biology of wildlife and the divergent goals of people involved in hunting fishing gathering and culling wildlife Reviews of theory show how sustainable exploitation is tied to the study of population dynamics with direct links to reproductive rates life histories behaviour and ecology As such theory is rarely put into practice to achieve sustainable use and effective conservation Conservation of Exploited Species explores the many reasons for this failure and considers remedies to tackle them including scientific issues such as how to incorporate uncertainty into estimations as well as social and political problems that stem from conflicting goals in exploitation

Savage Grace Jay Griffiths, 2015-03-17 Jay Griffiths is a tour guide for anyone who has ever wished to commune with the side of our human psyche that remains in touch with the wild Equally at home among the sea gypsy Bajo people who live off the coast of Thailand and forage their food from the ocean floor drinking the psychedelic ayahuasca plant with Amazonian shamans or joining an Inuit whale hunt at the northern tip of Canada Griffiths takes readers on an adventure both charted and un chartable She divides her meditations on these travels into sections named after the ancient elemental properties of the universe Earth Air Fire Ice and Water because her subject matter is not merely the places traveled to but the depths of mind and the cultural narratives revealed by place It is a universal story told of far flung groups of humans with vastly different ways of life connected through the varied wilderness that sustains them By describing the ways in which human societies and the human mind have developed in response to the wilder elements of our homelands Savage Grace reveals itself as a benediction for the emotional intellectual and physical nourishment that people continue to draw from the natural world Under the sway of Griffiths charisma her poetic prose and her deeply learned and persuasive case for the wild roots of our shared human being we learn that we are all each and every one of us a force of nature
