Super Flat Times Matthew Derby, 2007-07-31 With a heightened sense of the boundless possibility and lurking doom that Orwell and Huxley once envisioned Matthew Derby's stories provide a glimpse into an intricately imagined world a world in which clouds are treated with behavioral serum children are handicapped by their ability to float and all food including Popsicles is made of meat

Forgetting the Art World Pamela M. Lee, 2012-10-12 The work of art's mattering and materialization in a globalized world with close readings of works by Takahashi Murakami Andreas Gursky Thomas Hirschhorn and others It may be time to forget the art world or at least to recognize that a certain historical notion of the art world is in eclipse Today the art world spins on its axis so quickly that its maps can no longer be read its borders blur In Forgetting the Art World Pamela Lee connects the current state of this world to globalization and its attendant controversies Contemporary art has responded to globalization with images of movement and migration borders and multitudes but Lee looks beyond iconography to view globalization as a world process Rather than think about the global art world as a socioeconomic phenomenon or in terms of the imagery it stages and sponsors Lee considers the work of art's world as a medium through which globalization takes place She argues that the work of art is itself both object and agent of globalization Lee explores the ways that art actualizes iterates or enables the processes of globalization offering close readings of works by artists who have come to prominence in the last two decades She examines the just in time managerial ethos of Takahashi Murakami the production of ethereal spaces in Andreas Gursky's images of contemporary markets and manufacture the logic of immanent cause dramatized in Thomas Hirschhorn's mixed media displays and the pseudo collectivism in the contemporary practice of the Atlas Group the Raqs Media Collective and others To speak of the work of art's world Lee says is to point to both the work of art's mattering and its materialization to understand the activity performed by the object as utterly continuous with the world it at once inhabits and creates

Art in Consumer Culture Grace McQuilten, 2017-07-05 Written with beautiful clarity Art in Consumer Culture Mis Design asks the contemporary art world to be honest about the pervasive effects of commodification and the difficulty of staging critique The book examines the collusion of art and design in contemporary artistic practices in order to find avenues of critique in a commercially driven cultural landscape Grace McQuilten focuses on the work of Takashi Murakami Andrea Zittel Adam Kalkin and Vito Acconci four contemporary artists who claim to be working in the field of design rather than the traditional art world McQuilten argues that Zittel Acconci and Kalkin engage with design only to reactivate the critical practice of art in a more direct engagement with capital and conceives of and affirms a future for art outside of the art world as a parasite in the complex beast of late capitalism This book is an important and timely provocation to a cynical and apathetic consumer culture and a call to arms for creative freedom and critical thought

Lesser Apocalypses Bayard Godsave, 2012-06 Like snow in the tropics this collection is a revelation Clustered as shell shocked survivors Bayard Godsave's Lesser Apocalypses occupy the edge of ruin Though bleak the stories contained here are enlivened emboldened by disaster A man emotionally undone by his time inside a missile silo by the turn of his key a gas mask that reflects a marriage s murkiness a domestic bomber whose conscience ignites every fuse a post nuclear war refugee facing concurrent adolescence motherhood and middle age and two former cosmonauts disengaged from everything but each other are all vivid against a tenebrous backdrop Underpinned by a series of prophetic vignettes the book s blast zones are aglow illuminating through stark humanity the blazing end of devastation

The Silent History Eli Horowitz, Matthew Derby, Kevin Moffett, 2014-06-10 A generation of children forced to live without words It begins as a statistical oddity a spike in children born with acute speech delays Physically normal in every way these children never speak and do not respond to speech they don t learn to read don t learn to write As the number of cases grows to an epidemic level theories spread Maybe it s related to a popular antidepressant maybe it s environmental Or maybe these children have special skills all their own The Silent History unfolds in a series of brief testimonials from parents teachers friends doctors cult leaders profiteers and impostors everyone except of course the children themselves documenting the growth of the so called silent community into an elusive enigmatic force in itself alluring to some threatening to others Both a bold storytelling experiment and a propulsive reading experience Eli Horowitz Matthew Derby and Kevin Moffett s The Silent History is at once thrilling timely and timeless

Time in the Levant Anthony Wood, 2019-01-08 A personal history of serving with the Foreign office in the Middle East in the 1950 s and 1960 s A memoir looking at the region from the traveller s point of view rather than the politics of the era Looks at wonders and strangeness of the Levant region Don t worry Mr Wood nothing has ever happened in Basra said the Iraqi Major General in charge of the port when I paid a courtesy call on him after my arrival Recalling Sinbad the sailor and the arrival of the Anglo Indian Expeditionary Force to throw out the Turks in 1914 I took this advice with a pinch of salt and was justified in June 1966 when Iraq in company with all other Arab nations broke off diplomatic relations with us sparking student riots against our consulate the breaking of many windows and our departure Before that the unexpected had happened in Beirut where the Americans arrived dramatically to quell a civil war in 1956 to relieve a non-existent threat to a temporary garrison of the staff of our Embassy there waiting to defend the place against a non-existent mob. This account of a few Foreign Office postings in the Middle East may show what life was like for a junior diplomat in 50s and 60s. The dig at Nimrud in 1956 under the inspired leadership of Max Mallowan and his wife Agatha Christie is also recalled from the social point of view and is a reminder of the glories of the ancient past many of which have been destroyed by the recent depravations of the fanatics. It should be added that Agatha's contribution is not generally recognised in archaeological publications but her management of the administration of the dig from weekly baths to the sewing on of buttons from proper coffee to decent arak and even typing of other people's less inspired writings were phenomenal. There are also photographs taken by the author of this dig and one on the cover of the canebrake at Khosr.

Candy Mian Mian, 2024-09-24 An international literary phenomenon now available for the first time in English translation. Candy is a hip harrowing tale of risk and desire: the story of a young Chinese woman forging a life for herself in a world seemingly devoid of guidelines. Hong, who narrates the novel and whose life in many ways parallels the author's own, drops out of high school and runs away at age 17 to the frontier city of Shenzhen. As Hong navigates the temptations of the city, she quickly falls in love with a young musician and together they dive into a cruel netherworld of alcohol, drugs, and excess, a life that fails to satisfy Hong's craving for an authentic self and for a love that will define her. This startling and subversive novel is a blast of sex, drugs, and rock n' roll that opens up to us a modern China we've never seen before. Banned in China, with Mian Mian labeled the poster child for spiritual pollution, Candy still managed to sell 60,000 copies as well as countless additional copies in pirated editions. Candy has been published in eight countries to date and has become a bestseller in France.

Religious Imaging in Millennialist America Ashley Crawford, 2018-09-19 Ashley Crawford investigates how such figures as Ben Marcus, Matthew Barney, and David Lynch, among other artists, novelists, and film directors utilize religious themes and images via Christianity, Judaism, and Mormonism to form essentially mutated variations of mainstream belief systems. He seeks to determine what drives contemporary artists to deliver implicitly religious imagery within a secular context. Particularly how religious heritage and language and the mutations within those have impacted American culture to partake in an aesthetic of apocalypticism that underwrites it.

The Tales Jessica Bozek, 2023 Stitching together a post-apocalyptic history from the scraps of fairy tales, war memorials, hunting songs, and disparate scholarship, Jessica Bozek's The Tales traces the violence that humans inflict upon one another. As the central narrative of the Lone Survivor becomes revealed through the mouths of various perspectives, Bozek investigates the language that victims and perpetrators alike use to make sense of and attempt to forget the aftermath of violence. From ordinary objects, family photographs, sweaters that unravel, old batteries, and lightbulbs to the remnants of destroyed art and architecture an annihilated nation is brought into reality and the Lone Survivor's story is simultaneously documented and invalidated becoming a memorial that will disintegrate over time gray and fray as most of the dead did not have a chance to
