For Self and Country Estate of Rick Eilert, 2010-05-15 Vietnam was often called a teenager's war The average age was 19.2 so in the main the War was fought by 17, 18, 19 and 20 year olds barely out of high school and often without the income intelligence inclination or focus to attend college For everyone the draft loomed large in our futures so you could choose your branch of service or let the draft decide for you This was the 60's Fresh from sock hops and college freshman mixers young men found themselves in a fight for their lives from the Delta to the DMZ on animal trails numbered hills and in remote jungle outposts Teenagers witnessed the unspeakable carnage of war while trying to understand the collision of emotions and insult to the senses that is combat Thousands died there and many thousands more were wounded and maimed So the hell of combat was replaced by the painful recovery in a military hospital For me and thousands of others it was Great Lakes Naval Hospital at Great Lakes Illinois For Self and Country follows my many months of recovery along with the stories of the brave young men who surrounded me and sustained me with friendship uncommon humor and courage This is a story of family young love and the magnificent care administered by the Navy doctors nurses and revered Corpsmen Great Lakes was a place of great pain but also recovery not just from the physical damage we sustained but also the unseen emotional injuries everyone endured but rarely talked about We helped each other in our recovery by talking to each other about our wartime experiences and how we would need to cope outside the insulated and protected hospital Most of us had no expectation of surviving Vietnam now that we had we were unsure what place we would have in civilian life
