Milliman, B.U. Haq, 2013-03-09 Greenhouse induced climate warming increasingly appears to be a reality and the warming climate will be accompanied by an accelerated sea level rise as much as 60 100 cm over the next century What is commonly absent in the discussion of rising sea level however is the role played by the subsidence of low lying coastal areas which can have a far greater local effect than the eustatic rise of the sea The combined sea level rise and land subsidence will almost certainly make the greatest impact on coastal societies in the densely populated regions of southern Asia but its effects will be felt globally This volume explores the concepts of sea level rise and coastal subsidence both natural and anthropogenically accelerated in the form of a series of case studies in such diverse locations as Bangkok Bangladesh Venice and the Niger and

Mississippi deltas as well as a discussion of the economic engineering and policy responses that must be considered if the effects of local sea level rise are to be mitigated Geologic Hazards of Moab-Spanish Valley, Grand County, Utah Michael D. Hylland, William Mulvey, 2003 Moab Valley and the contiguous Spanish Valley comprise a popular residential and recreational area in east central Utah Geologic processes that created the rugged and scenic landscape of Moab Spanish Valley are still active today and can be hazardous to property and life To address development in areas with geologic hazards the Utah Geological Survey UGS conducted a geologic hazards investigation to provide information to Moab City and Grand County to help guide development and reduce losses from geologic hazards This report includes maps of Moab Valley and the northern and central parts of Spanish Valley that provide information on geologic hazards to assist homeowners planners and developers in making informed decisions The maps show areas where hazards may exist and where site specific studies are advisable prior to development The maps are for planning purposes only and do not preclude the necessity for site investigations Site specific studies by qualified professionals engineering geologists geotechnical engineers hydrologists should evaluate hazards and if necessary recommend hazard reduction measures Because of the small scale of the maps some hazard areas are not shown hazard studies are therefore recommended for all critical facilities for example hospitals schools fire stations including those outside the mapped hazard areas U.S. Geological Survey Bulletin ,1983 Open Earth ,1982 The Dictionary of Physical Geography David S. Scientific and Technical Information Branch, 1986 Natural Hazards: Earth's Processes as Hazards, Disasters, and Catastrophes (4th Edition) Edward Keller, Duane DeVecchio, 2015-05-20 Last House on the Hill Mirjana Stevanovic, Ruth Tringham, 2012-12-31 Recipient of the Jo Anne Stolaroff Cotsen Prize Occupied from around 7500 BC to 5700 BC the large Neolithic and Chalcolithic settlement of Catalhoyuk in Anatolia is composed entirely of domestic buildings no public buildings have been identified First excavated in the early 1960s the site was left untouched until 1993

During the summers of 1997-2003 a team from the University of California at Berkeley the BACH team excavated an area at the northern end of the East Mound of Catalhoyuk. The houses there date predominantly to the late Aceramic and early Ceramic Neolithic around 7000 BC. Last House on the Hill is the final report of the BACH excavations. This volume comprises both interpretive chapters and empirical data from the excavations and their materials. The research of the BACH team focuses on the lives and life histories of houses and people, the use of digital technologies in documenting and sharing the archaeological process, the senses of place and the nature of cultural heritage and our public responsibilities. Practical Physical Geology John A. Ciciarelli, 1986. First Published in 1986. Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis, an informal company. The Earth Around Us Jill Schneiderman, 2018-02-19. Soil contamination, public lands, surface and groundwater pollution, coastal erosion, global warming. Have we reached the limits of this planet's ability to provide for us? If so, what can we do about it? These vital questions are addressed in The Earth Around Us, a unique collection of thirty-one essays by a diverse array of today's foremost scientist-writers. Sharing an ability to communicate science in a clear and engaging fashion, the contributors explore Earth's history and processes, especially in relation to today's environmental issues, and show how we as members of a global community can help maintain a livable planet. The narratives in this collection are organized into seven parts that describe Earth's time and history and the place of people on it: Views of nature and the ethics behind our conduct on Earth; Resources for the twenty-first century, such as public lands, healthy forests and soils, clean ground and surface waters, and fluctuating coastlines; Ill-informed local manipulations of landscapes across the United States; Innovative solutions to environmental problems that arise from knowledge of the interactions between living things and the Earth's air, water, and soil; Natural and human-induced global-scale perturbations to the earth system; Our responsibility to people and all other organisms that live on Earth. Never before has such a widely experienced group of prominent earth scientists been brought together to help readers understand how earth's environment works. Driven by the belief that earth science is and should be an integral part of everyday life, The Earth Around Us empowers all of us to play a more educated and active part in the search for a sustainable future for our planet and its inhabitants.
