Baker, Catherine S. Elliott, 1997 This text serves as a useful supplement to public finance textbooks helping students to build and weigh arguments to identify strengths and weaknesses of opposing viewpoints and ultimately to draw their own conclusions Its two main objectives are to present policy issues allowing students an opportunity to apply the theory discussed in class and to show students how material is developed in the literature by having them read some of the classics and contemporary contributions The readings in this book are not tied to any one text The authors make certain via a correlation guide in the front of the text that each selection corresponds to at least one chapter in each of the major textbooks and that no text chapter is without a supplementary reading The Power of the Purse Strings Richard Forgette, 1994-03-30 In an era of unprecedented budget problems can Congress establish legislative procedures to facilitate making politically difficult budget decisions If we keep fixing the process why are the policies and politics so fouled up This book provides an extensive answer to these questions Focusing exclusively on the House of Representatives the author assesses whether current congressional budget procedures namely the 302 process and reconciliation have been created designed and maintained to achieve greater budget restraint He defines the critical concept of procedural budget restraint as a procedural outcome in which spending decisions are less than what would have occurred in the absence of the procedure
