The Heart Has Its Reasons Beata Toth, 2016-05-26 The Heart Has Its Reasons explores a hitherto neglected area of theological anthropology the unity of human emotion and reason embodied in the Biblical concept of the heart While the theological contours of human rationality have long been clearly drawn and presented as the exclusive seat of the image of God affectivity has been relegated to a secondary position With the reintegration of the body into recent philosophical and theological discourses a number of questions have arisen if the image also resides in the body how does this change one's view of the theological significance of human affect In what way is our likeness to God realised in the whole of what we are Can one overcome the traditional dissociation between intellect and affect by a renewed theory of love In conversation with patristic and medieval authors like Irenaeus Tertullian Gregory of Nyssa Maximus and Thomas Aquinas and in dialogue with more recent interlocutors such as Blaise Pascal Ricoeur Marion Milbank and John Paul II Beata Toth pursues a novel theological vision of the essential unity of our humanity treatise and personal devotional and was written for several reasons First Grant Brown believes we need to be reminded that the altars Abraham erected during his lifetime were to commemorate Abraham s many experiences of God and using Abraham s example we should also preserve the remembrance of God s interventions in our own life and the life of our loved ones Secondly as you read this book you will be inspired and encouraged to see how the Lord personally and constantly involves himself in our life in many wonderful ways even when we find ourselves in the midst of trials and tribulations of one kind or another Finally as you continue to read the Lord will help you to choose which altars to build and also will help you tear down any ungodly ones you wish removed from your life The Heart Has Its Reasons Wallis Windsor Windsor (Duche),
