Myjak-Pycia,2025-06-12 Filling an important gap in design history Another Modernism examines how domestic space was conceived by the US home economics movement in the first half of the 20th century In doing so it tells the story of how home economists mainly women developed design that challenged the traditional architecture of American farm communities and countered the approach of modernist architects Uncovering unacknowledged contributions of women to domestic architecture and design history it reveals early instances of participation sustainability and accommodating the disabled body in domestic design In contrast to the canonical modernist model of space which is primarily visual home economists centered on a user who interacts with the interior in a tactile bodily way Although both strove for efficiency they understood it differently whereas for many of the mainstream modernists the term efficiency meant functionalist aesthetics for home economists it signified design solutions intended to ease the labor of an average American homemaker The book argues that the home economists focus on tactility the user's corporeality movement access preferences and her engagement in the design process constituted an alternative model of modern architecture a popular and largely rural modernism centered on the specificity of the female user and her personal experience of the domestic interior Based on little known archival material and with an emphasis on mostly female researchers designers and users occupants Another Modernism will appeal to architects design historians and anyone interested in gender women's and disability studies as well as non visual approaches to design      The Complete Idiot's Guide to Remodeling Your Kitchen : Illustrated Gloria Graham Brunk,Sue

Kovach,2003 Both an idea guide and a hands on remodeling book this illustrated volume takes readers step by step through the process of designing planning and executing the remodeling of their kitchens 300 photos illustrations      Migration, Settlement, and the Concepts of House and Home Iris Levin,2015-11-19 How do migrants feel at home in their houses Literature on the migrant house and its role in the migrant experience of home building is inadequate This book offers a theoretical framework based on the notion of home building and the concepts of home and house embedded within it It presents innovative research on four groups of migrants who have settled in two metropolitan cities in two periods migrants from Italy migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from mainland China migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Melbourne Australia and migrants from Morocco migrated in the 1950s and 1960s and from the former Soviet Union migrated in the 1990s and 2000s in Tel Aviv Israel The analysis draws on qualitative data gathered from forty six in depth interviews with migrants in their home environments including extensive visual data Levin argues that the physical form of the house is meaningful in a range of diverse ways during the process of home building and that each migrant group constructs a distinct form of home building in their homes houses according to their specific circumstances of migration namely the origin country country of destination and period of migration as well as the historical economic and social contexts around migration
