The Holocaust and Historical Methodology Dan Stone, 2012-08-01 In the last two decades our empirical knowledge of the Holocaust has been vastly expanded Yet this empirical blossoming has not been accompanied by much theoretical reflection on the historiography This volume argues that reflection on the historical process of re constructing the past is as important for understanding the Holocaust and by extension any past event as is archival research It aims to go beyond the dominant paradigm of political history and describe the emergence of methods now being used to reconstruct the past in the context of Holocaust historiography

Constructing the Holocaust Dan Stone, 2003 On the one hand then this is traditional historiography the history of history writing On the other hand the problem is approached via recent work in the philosophy of history closely analysing historical works as texts This is an interdisciplinary study that brings to bear on historiography the kind of textual analysis usually reserved for fiction testimony or film The Holocaust precisely because it throws into doubt older methodologies demands the search for new ones Showing how Holocaust historians inadvertently and paradoxically reinscribe into the wider culture patterns of thought that the Holocaust repudiated Constructing the Holocaust tries to respond to the Holocaust in a way that recognises its potential impact on usually unquestioned beliefs and unspoken methodological assumptions

Studies in Contemporary Jewry Jonathan Frankel, 1998-02-05 Was the Holocaust a natural product of a long German history of Anti Semitism Or were the Nazi policies simply a wild mutation of history not necessarily connected to the past Or does the truth lie somewhere in between This latest volume in the acclaimed Studies in Contemporary Jewry series edited by internationally known scholars at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem presents essays on the origins of the Holocaust The
