The History Plays David Hare, 1984 Three plays look at capitalism in Great Britain propaganda efforts against Hitler and a wartime agent's inability to adjust to peacetime life A Politic Theatre: The Drama of David Hare Scott

Fraser, 2022-06-08 This analysis of twenty published texts by David Hare employs definitions from contemporary semiotic literary theory as a means of describing typologies of political drama By tracing the incorporation of stylistic devices from agitational propaganda caricature self referentiality the friction between oral and visual signification throughout the typologies the study illustrates how each text subverts audience expectation based on established dramatic genres The collection of texts is seen as inherently self referential and politically subversive At the centre of each typology is a protagonist who functions as a martyr to or parodic emblem of contemporary society Consistently the hermeticism of public institutions which represent the political status quo makes them immune from any form of individual protest from the Left or Right In the satirical anatomy the emblem of political dissent is coopted by involvement within the institution or the stage is dominated by a conservative who controls the action In the demythology private individuals are seen as incapable of altering the public frame of history but here private suffering subverts the collective mythology of the historical construct In the martyrology the emblem of dissent is associated with a moral virtue which is inimical to contemporary society the audience's expectation of the triumph of the individual being subverted when he/she is expelled from the onstage world on the grounds of political ideology It is only in the final typology the conversion that a conservative emblem is seen as directly influenced by such martyrdom and the audience is provided with an actual example of political change Thus the study describes how each typology builds on the construction of the previous and all generate from agitational propaganda The Cambridge

David Hare Finlay Donesky,1996-11-25 In the last 30 years David Hare has written 12 stage plays seven screenplays and one opera and has gained international attention as one of Britain's major contemporary playwrights Hare's prominence springs not only from the sheer volume of his work but from his long career of chronicling the social and political fragmentation in postwar Britain This is the first work to demystify the implications of Hare's presentation of the moral and political health of the British nation Arguing that one needs to have a deeply informed sense of English and British identity and postwar British society in order to understand Hare's work Donesky thoroughly contextualizes and historicizes Hare's work This study demonstrates how Hare's seemingly enigmatic moral vision is actually characteristic of the attitudes of Britain's governing classes     British and Irish Drama since 1960 James Acheson,2015-12-24 The fifteen essays in this collection published here for the first time survey the work of some of the major British and Irish dramatists since 1960 Included are four dramatists Samuel Beckett Harold Pinter Peter Shaffer and Peter Nichols who began writing plays before 1960 and whose work since then has continued to develop interestingly Most of the dramatists considered here however are those who have begun writing more recently and who illustrate some of the distinctive characteristics of British and Irish drama of our time     Drama Criticism Jelena O.
