local now seems modern once again as the current interest in bioregionalism and climate change demonstrates it has become increasingly evident that thinking locally is thinking globally Since 1992 the SUNY College at Oneonta has hosted the biannual John Burroughs Nature Conference and Seminar Sharp Eyes which honors the influence of Burroughs on American nature writing Distinguished keynote speakers who have addressed the conference include John Elder John Tallmadge Joy Harjo Robin Wall Kimmerer Edward Kanze James Perrin Warren and Edward J Renehan Jr The scope of the conference is not limited solely to Burroughs however as each year the writers and scholars in attendance direct their attention toward a particular issue of significance to contemporary nature writers and scholars of environmental literature The theme of this collection Writing the Land John Burroughs and his Legacy was featured in the 2006 conference and includes essays on John Burroughs as well as essays on the work of other writers who like Burroughs are linked closely through their work to a particular landscape or region The third and final section of this book features invited essays by three distinguished scholars John Tallmadge Robert Beuka and Charlotte Zo Walker who consider the topic of what writing about the land and nature means from three different perspectives urban suburban and rural

Zooland Irus Braverman, 2012-11-28 This book takes a unique stance on a controversial topic zoos Zoos have their ardent supporters and their vocal detractors And while we all have opinions on what zoos do few people consider how they do it Irus Braverman draws on more than seventy interviews conducted with zoo managers and administrators as well as animal activists to offer a glimpse into the otherwise unknown complexities of zooland Zooland begins and ends with the story of Timmy the oldest male gorilla in North America to illustrate the dramatic transformations of zoos since the 1970s Over these decades modern zoos have transformed themselves from places created largely for entertainment to globally connected institutions that emphasize care through conservation and education Zoos naturalize their spaces classify their animals and produce spectacular experiences for their human visitors Zoos name register track and allocate their animals in global databases Zoos both abide by and create laws and industry standards that govern their captive animals Finally zoos intensely govern the reproduction of captive animals carefully calculating the life and death of these animals deciding which of them will be sustained and which will expire Zooland takes readers behind the exhibits into the world of zoo animals and their caretakers And in so doing it turns its gaze back on us to make surprising interconnections between our understandings of the human and the nonhuman

Trash Animals Kelsi Nagy,Phillip David Johnson II,2013-04-01 Why are some species admired or beloved while others are despised An eagle or hawk circling overhead inspires awe while urban pigeons shuffling underfoot are kicked away in revulsion Fly fishermen consider carp an unwelcome trash fish even though the trout they hope to catch are often equally non native Wolves and coyotes are feared and hunted in numbers wildly disproportionate to the dangers they pose to humans and livestock In Trash Animals a diverse group of environmental writers explores the natural history of wildlife species deemed filthy unwanted invasive or worthless highlighting the vexed relationship humans have with such creatures Each essay focuses on a so called trash species gulls coyotes carp cockroaches magpies prairie dogs and lubber grasshoppers among others examining the biology and behavior of each in contrast to the assumptions widely held about them Identifying such animals as trash tells us nothing about problematic wildlife but rather reveals more about human expectations of and frustrations with the natural world By establishing the unique place that maligned species occupy in the contemporary landscape and in our imagination the contributors challenge us to look closely at these animals to reimagine our ethics of engagement with such wildlife and to question the violence with which we treat them Perhaps our attitudes reveal more about humans than they do about the animals Contributors Bruce Barcott Charles Bergman Pacific Lutheran U James E Bishop Young Harris College Andrew D Blechman Michael P Branch U of Nevada Reno Lisa Couturier Carolyn Kraus U of Michigan Dearborn Jeffrey A Lockwood U of Wyoming Kyhl Lyndgaard Marlboro College Charles Mitchell Elmira College Kathleen D Moore Oregon State U Catherine Puckett Bernard Quetchenbach Montana State U Billings Christina Robertson U of Nevada Reno Gavan P L Watson U of Guelph Ontario Canada
