of other trends caused a gradual decline in the human social and emotional qualities of postwar residential architecture. This book will attempt to look at the issues and choices facing today's residential designers and home builders and ask: How can we make our new houses and neighborhoods more responsive to humanistic needs, particularly in light of constant pressures to keep housing costs down? This question will generally be addressed by comparing historical designs to those of today to see if we might be able to reconsider some old-fashioned ideas in new housing designs.
