It has in front a small yard which extends back to the stable. The tidy appearance of the cottage and its pleasant situation are sure to attract a stranger's attention. Upon entering the house everything is found to be so tastefully arranged, so scrupulously clean and so comfortable that the visitor feels at home in a moment, being confident that everything is looked after by a thrifty housewife. The first floor consists of four rooms: a parlor containing a large bay window filled with beautiful geraniums of every imaginable color and variety; is the first to attract attention; then the dining room with its old-fashioned clock, its numerous home-made rugs, easy chairs and commodious table makes one feel like dining especially if the hour is near twelve for about that time of day savory odors are sure to issue from the adjoining kitchen. The kitchen is all that a room of the kind in a village cottage should be; is not very large and contains an ordinary wood stove, a large pine table and a small washstand. It has a door opening into the side yard near the stable and another into the wash shed besides the one connecting it with the dining room making three doors in all and one window. The fourth room is very small and is used as a sewing room; it adjoins the dining room and the parlor and has a door opening into each. Besides the four rooms on the first floor there is a large pantry having a small window about four feet from the floor; the door of this pantry opens into the dining room. Such is the arrangement of the first floor.      A True Ghost Story Hazel Lewis Scaife, 1895      The Haunted House Walter Hubbell, 1879
