The Houngan:

Medicine and Morality in Haiti Paul Brodwin, 1996-09-13 Morality and medicine are inextricably intertwined in rural Haiti and both are shaped by the different local religious traditions Christian and Vodoun as well as by biomedical and folk medical practices When people fall ill they seek treatment not only from Western doctors but also from herbalists religious healers and midwives Dr Brodwin examines the situational logic the pragmatic decisions that guide people in making choices when they are faced with illness He also explains the moral issues that arise in a society where suffering is associated with guilt but where different sometimes conflicting ethical systems coexist Moreover he shows how in the crisis of illness people rework religious identities and are forced to address fundamental social and political problems Season of Adventure

A Touch of Voodoo Dean Buchmeyer,Peter Gardner,2000-10-02 The story is set in the days before the revolution that deposed Baby Doc and makes several swings between Haiti under the corrupt and repressive military rule and the small Texas town of Longbottom. A U.S. medical team comprising four physicians, a black dentist Dr. Bailey, and two nurses Zulla, also black, and Pam fly to Haiti under the leadership of Dr. Bone to conduct free clinics as a start of a help the poor program. During the stopover in Port au Prince they witness a rather mild voodoo ceremony, meet shady Minister of Health de Villeneuve, co-sponsor of the program, and discover that half their separately medical supplies are missing. The team travels by minivan through the bleak countryside and over the mountains to the northern city of Cap-Haitien, their base for the clinics, driven by the 20-year-old live wire Marcel, who has an important part to play in the story. Bone has a hard time maintaining harmony among his temperamental fellow physicians, one of whom a married man falls for, Pam. The team is put up at the once prosperous hotel owned by a German expatriot, Hans Boch. The first and third clinics are conducted in the church of Reverend Purdy, something of a stuffed shirt who has a severely depressed wife, and in the course of his stay Bone befriends Judy Cawthorn, who is doing research on voodoo, and Father Morissot, a Catholic priest who enlists Bone's aid in saving the life of a certain Henri, who has been placed under a death curse by the powerful and slightly crazed houngan or head voodoo priest Chauvelin. During the second clinic held in a small outlying school church, Bone receives a threat from a Chauvelin henchman, and on his way back to Cap-Haitien glimpses a zombie. Unfoward events occur; Bone is nearly struck by a speeding car, careless driving a warning, and one morning comes upon signs of a voodoo curse outside his door. Bailey, his interest piqued by voodoo, visits the home of Mambo Lebourg, a local voodoo priestess, and finds evidence of the missing medical supplies. Back in Longbottom, Bone's friend Hal, owner of a furniture store as well as a Justice of the Peace, and the town's undertaker learns that Zulla's husband, Jake, has seemingly disappeared. Jake, spied on by town gossip Aunt Povey, has been having a fling with a beautician, Gladys, who has drug connections, as Jake once had Hal, and his wife have a wayward adopted son who later features in the plot. In Cap-Haitien, de Villeneuve goes to Lebourg's house to meet Chauvelin and receive from him half the money from the black market sale of the stolen medical supplies. Chauvelin, who has put a death curse on a woman who offended him, kidnaps Bailey and arranges to release Bailey if Bone will not undertake to interfere with the curse. Bone is dramatically relieved of his dilemma by Marcel, and Boch rescues Bailey while a captive Bailey had found a phial of zombie powder and takes it out of curiosity. Home in Longbottom, and reconciled with Jake, Zulla persuades members of her Ebony social club to participate in a rather voodoo ceremony with largely comic results. Morissot calls Bone to say Henri has been poisoned by Chauvelin, and Bone flies back to Cap-Haitien to try and protect the priest, now under threats himself, and see that Chauvelin is brought to justice. In a remote village, Chauvelin is about to perform a rather sinister voodoo ceremony at which he will sacrifice a baby. Bone goes there with Marcel and Lebourg's marksman son, Claude. The baby is saved, but Chauvelin escapes, later to be shot by Claude. Bone learns Bailey has become obsessed with the beautiful Zulla and tries to seduce her but is repulsed. Though a successful dentist, Bailey has deep psychological scars from his
