Stone Vessels in the

Levant RachaelThyrza Sparks,2017-07-05 Examining stone vessels in the Levant during the 2nd millennium BC the author explores the links between material culture and society through a comprehensive study of production and distribution Extensively illustrated with 100 drawings maps and charts this volume includes a full object catalogue This study represents the first comprehensive overview of the stone vessel assemblagesof the Levant in this period a time which fed by an increase of wealth and interregional trade saw a growth in the popularity and variety of such vessels Previously our understanding of the varied functions and forms of these diverse vessels has been relatively underdeveloped In this volume the author attempts to address this problem by creating a typological framework though which we can analyse variability and define essential characteristics of local stone vessel workshops Only once this has been achieved is it possible to look at stone vessel production in its wider cultural context Subsequent chapters explore broader themes beginning within the workshops themselves examining the links between craftsmen their sources of raw materials and the authorities that controlled and distributed their output Considerations of the geographical and chronological distribution of such goods are then used to provide a regional perspective for the operation of these workshops connections between them and further insights into the nature of local and international trade Finally the objects themselves can be used to assess the impact of trends such as the growing Egyptianization of the ruling classes of the Levant at this time

Stone Age without Stones Raiko Krauß,Dan Ciobotaru,2024-10-21 This volume deals with the results of the excavations from 2010 to 2015 at the Early Neolithic settlement of Bucova Pusta IV near S nnicolau Mare in northern Banat After the end of the Early Neolithic settlement a large burial mound was erected at this site in the early 3rd millennium BC the main burial of which was also documented during the excavations The site was subsequently inhabited once again during the transition from the Late Bronze Age to the Early Iron Age In medieval times the site served as a burial ground for a nomadic equestrian population The flat landscape of northern Banat is characterised by numerous watercourses This is why the utilisation of aquatic resources played an important role in the Neolithic period Another special feature is the lack of natural stones which is reflected in the special character of the Early Neolithic finds
