New Consumer Behavior Theories from Japan Akira Shimizu, 2021-04-20 This book focuses on a new type of inclusive consumer decision making process model CDM related to new leading edge consumers There have been two main types of CDMs for consumer behavior one is the stimulus response model and the other is the information processing model The stimulus response model is applicable when consumers buy low involvement products and the information processing model applies for high involvement products Thus consumers decision making depends on the involvement level for the products With the advent of the widespread use of the Internet however the situation has changed Consumers whose information sensitivity is high i.e. among leading edge consumers now use the Internet to search for information even for low involvement products The consumers decision making process depends therefore on their information sensitivity not on the involvement level of the products Also these leading edge consumers become in effect another type of media as they broaden their experience through the Internet Under these circumstances research about leading edge consumers and the introduction of a new CDM is highly significant This book gathers data about leading edge consumers analyzes these data then proposes a new type of CDM called circulation marketing Following this model not only the previous types of CDM but also the new kind of CDM including share behavior of leading edge consumers is explained

Perceiving crime as alternative? Benjamin Van Damme,Lieven Pauwels,2016-01-04 In the past 200 years many explanations have been given for rule breaking behavior A classic idea that was developed during the Enlightenment was that crime should be understood as the outcome of a rational choice process While much criticism exists with regard to rational choice theories the fact remains that humans deliberate when committing acts This process of deliberation deserves attention in etiological research despite the fact that some of the assumptions of rational choice theories do not hold This is exactly what this book is all about This book is the result of an innovative attempt to study criminal decision making using a less studied method in criminological inquiries namely randomized scenario studies A randomized scenario study combines the principles of survey research with ideas that are central in experimental design This book is an elaboration of a dissertation written by Benjamin Van Damme who personally developed an internet application for randomized scenario studies that can be used to test ideas developed in theories of crime causation This dissertation is part of a larger research initiative of Lieven Pauwels who supervised Benjamin Van Damme s master dissertation namely a study on the empirical status of situational action theory Benjamin Van Damme and Lieven Pauwels empirically demonstrate that criminal decisionmaking can be seen as a perception choice process i e the result of person environment interactions Environmental characteristics trigger criminal decision making but only in individuals that see crime as an alternative The theoretical and methodological consequences for criminological inquiries are discussed
