The Welfare of Laboratory Animals Eila Kaliste,2007-04-18 Animal welfare is attracting increasing interest worldwide but particularly from those in developed countries who now have the knowledge and resources to be able to offer the best management systems for their farm animals as well as potentially being able to offer plentiful resources for companion zoo and laboratory animals The increased attention given to animal welfare in the West derives largely from the fact that the relentless pursuit of financial reward and efficiency has led to the development of intensive animal production systems that offend the conscience of many consumers in those countries In developing countries human survival is still a daily uncertainty so that provision for animal welfare has to be balanced against human welfare Welfare is usually provided for only if it supports the output of the animal be it food work clothing sport or companionship In reality there are resources for all if they are properly husbanded in both developing and developed countries The inequitable division of the world's riches creates physical and psychological poverty for humans and animals alike in all sectors of the world Livestock are the world's biggest land user FAO 2002 and the population particularly of monogastric animals is increasing rapidly to meet the need of an expanding human population Populations of animals managed by humans are therefore increasing worldwide so there is the tendency to allocate fewer resources to each one It Could Never Happen but It Did Edward

Watkins,2018-08-07 It Could Never Happen but It Did By Edward Watkins Dear Edward dear friend you are undoubtedly a storyteller of unequalled memory I was fascinated by your remembrance of 90 years ago You wrote over 100 pages of your life you obviously enjoyed I thank you for sharing your book It's awesome Charlene Dawson writer and journalist Edward dear What a fantastic tale you weave Your memories and book style captivated my whole being I had thought I would merely peruse the hundred and twenty pages and just say a little white lie that I had read the whole thing But no I could not quit until I read it all I believe your book should appeal to those who lived in that era and those who are interested in how life was in the olden golden days Charline Gajdos lifelong secretary and world traveler Watkins is the best salesman since St Paul He shows that faith can move mountains John Dudley Scout Master of California Dear Edward this was an amazing autobiography Your memory for the details is extraordinary and the recounting of your childhood flying career sales career and golfing experiences is amazing Thank you for the opportunity to read it Sally and Basil Binckley This is the story about Edward Watkins's life from his birth to his forty third birthday It covers his childhood and his working eight hours a night as an apprentice machinist while in high school It's about how he became a Naval Aviator in 1943 He was discharged February 2 1946 and proceeded to get a college education He started selling books part time and found out that he could make more money as an encyclopedia salesman than he could as an engineer Watkins returned to service for the Korean War October 31 1952 and was discharged on March 3 1954 Then Watkins went back to bookselling where he became the regional VP for Collier's of New England area He eventually quit that position because his wife could not stand Eastern ragweed and returned to California He became interested in cosmetics and acquired a dealership in Holiday Magic in 1968 Watkin s wife divorced him and remarried her first husband on September 7 1968 Watkin s called her three months later and she was unhappy He told her to return home She canceled her marriage and she and Watkins were remarried February 27 1969 It could never happen but it did
