Biblical Studies and the Shifting of Paradigms, 1850-1914 Henning Graf Reventlow,William R. Farmer,1995-05-01 The volume contains the contributions to a symposium in which specialists in different fields worked together in the attempt to throw by their cooperation more light on the conditions theological convictions and worldview political climate influence of state officials educational institutions and churches which were influential in the development of biblical studies in the second half of the 19th century The discussion originated with a special problem the thesis of William Farmer one of the co editors of the volume that the appointment of Heinrich Julius Holtzmann who defended the priority of the gospel of Mark as the oldest synoptic gospel to the New Testament professorship in Strasbourg in 1872 was the result of a direct intervention of the emperial chancellor Bismarck in the context of the kulturkampf who wished thereby to weaken the Roman Catholic position defending the supremacy of the chair of St Peter by the authority of the gospel of St Matthew Mt 16 18 The question belongs in the broader context of the presuppositions of Bible exegesis in the second half of the 19th century As both editors agreed that the matter is not yet finally settled it seemed to be essential for coming to deeper insights into the conditions under which biblical exegesis was enacted in the 19th century to broaden the scenery and to include other aspects that might throw more light on a period widely unknown to many scholars belonging to the present generation Therefore specialists of different fields joined a symposium in order to elucidate from their respective viewpoints and interests basic themes and methods of biblical exegesis scientific theology and the relations between state and university in the 19th century especially during the period of the second Reich But the themes were not restricted to this special area They included also a wider outlook into the first half of the century and across the borders of Germany into other European countries So the volume contains a collection of essays which have in common that all of them contribute to a better knowledge of the inner and outer conditions which formed climate and results of Biblical interpretation in the period

Excerpt from The History and Doctrines of Irvingism Vol 2 of 2 Or of the So Called Catholic and Apostolic Church It has arisen out of the throes and seething thought of the earlier part of this eventful period And if logic wins its way in the realms of religious belief if long habit does not remove from the disciples of these doctrines the power of candid judgment and usages and interests do not become too deeply rooted to yield when their raison d etre is no more it must die when if the providence of God so orders the present age is swallowed up in the next But I must not anticipate the criticism which I hope to make with all the candour at my command after my readers are put in possession of the chief facts of the history of this Community and of the doctrines which they profess I Immediate expectation of the Second Advent The mainspring of their system is their belief in the near approach of our Lord s second Coming This belief as is well known they share with a large number of Christians who do not participate in the peculiar views of these people But the members of this Community have carried it if not in their authorized documents which they keep wholly to themselves yet in the wide spread tenets of their members to applications peculiar to themselves This belief arose as has been narrated out of the extraordinary events which accompanied the entrance of the present century About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

Excerpt from The History and Doctrines of Irvingism Vol 1 of 2 Or of the So Called Catholic and Apostolic Church The present work arose out of the acceptance of the opinions generally known as Irvingite by Clergymen of the Church of England Convinced after examination of their utter groundlessness I was anxious if I could to make it for ever impossible that well informed Clergymen or indeed well informed Laymen should be thus led away from the teaching of the true Branch of the Church in this country And at the same time it appeared to me that light would be shed from such a discussion upon the principles of the Church inasmuch as controversy has ever brought out into relief the Doctrines delivered by our Lord About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books
