country life although he would have been glad to have richer patients and within less distances of each other but he would say to any one who expressed surprise that with his reputation he should remain where he was What s to become of my little flock if I go away for there are very few doctors of my experience who would feel inclined to come and undertake my work I know every man woman and child in the whole country side and that makes all the difference You see therefore that he was a good kind hearted man and loved his work for the sake of those whom he helped by it better than the money he received for it
