

HISTORY OF HOME ECONOMICS

Catherine Beecher

1800-1878

1841: The Treatise on Domestic Economy for the use of Young Ladies at Home

Catherine Beecher was one of the earliest advocates for home economics education. Her book helped give standardized procedures to women in home to conduct the home. This was just the beginning, a turning point, in recognizing the importance of educating young girls and women about the home.

1872: Public School Act

This occurred in British Columbia a year after the province entered confederation. The Public School Act allowed schools to be funded by provincial revenues and helped to establish school districts.

The goal of this Act was to permit every child to gain knowledge to become a useful and intelligent citizen (Education in Early British Columbia, n.d.)

1842-1911

Ellen Swallow Richards

1893: Rumford Kitchen

The World's Fair took place in Chicago and Ellen Swallow Richards was invited to cook within the Women's building but she was adamant that her work was meant for men and women and thus created the Rumford Kitchen and the World's Fair (1893, n.d.).

The building that became the Rumford Kitchen!

Lake Placid Conferences

1899-1909

These were a series of ten conferences between 1899-1909, where Home Economics emerged as a discipline (History of Home Economics, n.d.). It was here that the leaders and advocates in the field discussed advances in home economics and developed the guiding principles of what home economics was and should be (Matheson, 1987).

Participants at the first Lake Placid Conference. Annie Dewey, Maria Damsell, Ellen Swallow Richards, Alice Peloubet Norton and Maria Parloa

Home Economics in BC & the Macdonald Institute

The Macdonald Institute (MIENS) was co-founded by (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.). It opened in 1903 for instruction of women in the fields of manual training and the domestic sciences and arts (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.). It was the first home economics school in North America (Macdonald Institute (MIENS), n.d.).

The Macdonald Institute

Manitoba Home Economics Association

1911

Edith Knowles Simpson helped to found the Saskatchewan Home Economics Association

The Manitoba Association of Home Economics Association (MAHE) met to discuss issues and social concerns like food laws (Organizations, n.d.). Their objectives were to promote the family, community and a standard of home economics professionalism (Organizations, n.d.).

World War One in Europe

1914-1918

As battle commenced across Europe, life for women changed drastically. Not only did women continue to fulfill their roles in the homes, but many women also began taking jobs to fill the roles of men who went to battle (Women's roles on the home front, n.d.).

Propaganda poster directed at women during WWI

The Pill

1960-1970

- With the introduction of the birth control pill in the early '60's women gained more control of their lives.
- Specifically, they were no longer bearing and then caring for large families except by choice.
- Women had more time for careers.

First first oral contraceptive pills.

BCTF Teacher Shortage

- The alert noted that there was a shortage of Home Economics teachers and that there were full-time positions that were impossible to fill. This shortage of teachers is showing the importance of Home Economics and that Home Economics class numbers are on the rise.

- This was confirmed by the BC Public School Employers Association (BCTSEA) report that indicated that there was not a shortage of teachers in general. There had been a temporary surge in retirement as the average age of teachers peaked in 2004-2005. As stated in the report the average age of teachers was expected to decline in the near future (Is there a teacher shortage, 2016).

Williams, 1991-04-15 The Origins of Federal Support for Higher Education revises the traditional interpretation of the land grant college movement whose institutions were brought into being by the 1862 Morrill Act to provide for the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes Rather than being the inevitable consequence of the unfolding dynamic of institutional and socioeconomic forces Williams argues it was the active intervention and initiative of a handful of educational leaders that secured the colleges future above all the activities of George W Atherton For nearly three decades Atherton who was the seventh president of the Pennsylvania State University worked to secure consistent federal financial support for the colleges which in their early years received little assistance from the states they were designed to benefit He also helped to develop the institutions as comprehensive national universities grounded in the liberal arts and sciences a conception that countered the prevailing view of the colleges as mainly agricultural schools Atherton became the prime mover in the campaign to enact the 1887 Hatch Act which encouraged the establishment of agricultural experiment stations at land grant colleges The act marked the federal government s first effort to provide continuous funding to research units associated with higher education institutions At the same time Atherton played a key role in the formation of the first association of such institutions The Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations It was the Association that provided the critical mass needed to lobby Congress successively and to approach the many opportunities and threats the land grant colleges faced during the 1885 1906 period Atherton was also deeply involved in the campaign for the Morrill Act of 1890 which provided long sought annual appropriations to land grant colleges for a broad range of academic programs and encouraged steady growth in state support during the 1890s Roger Williams traces the motives and tactics behind a series of laws that made the federal government irreversibly committed to funding higher education and scientific research and provides rich new insights into the complexities polarities and inherent contradictions of the history of the American land grant movement      Summer Session University of Georgia, 1905      Bulletin , 1952      British and American School Stories, 1910-1960 Nancy G.
