The Hopeful Future:

Lessons for the Future David Hicks, 2002 In Lessons for the Future Davis Hicks provides an insight into and an argument for futures education. He discusses the latest innovative teaching and research in the field and looks at young people's attitudes to the future.

Hopeful Pessimism Mara van der Lugt, 2025-01-21 Why hopeful pessimism is not a contradiction in terms but a powerful source of moral and political commitment. The climate debate is rife with calls for optimism. While temperatures rise and disasters intensify, we are asked to maintain optimism and hope as if the real threat is pessimism and despair. In this erudite and engaging book, Mara van der Lugt argues that this is a mistake: crude optimism can no longer be a virtue in a breaking world and may well prove to be our besetting vice. In an age of climate change and ecological devastation, the virtue we need is hopeful pessimism. Drawing on thinkers that range from J.R.R. Tolkien and Mary Shelley to Albert Camus and Jonathan Lear, Van der Lugt invites us to rethink what we thought we knew about optimism and pessimism, hope and despair, activism and grief. She shows that pessimism is closely linked to a tradition of moral and political activism and offers a different way to think about pessimism, not as synonymous with despair but as compatible with hope. Gently yet fiercely, Van der Lugt argues that what we need to avoid is not pessimism but fatalism or self-serving resignation. Pessimism does not imply the loss of courage or the lack of a desire to strive for a better world; on the contrary, these are the very gifts that pessimism can bestow. What Hopeful Pessimism asks instead is that we strive for change without certainties, without expecting anything from our efforts other than the knowledge that we have done what we are called upon to do as moral agents in a time of change.

Hopeful Pedagogies in Higher Education Mike Seal, 2021-05-20 Many accounts of critical pedagogy, particularly accounts of trying to enact it within higher education, express a deep cynicism about whether it is possible to counter the ever-creeping hegemony of neo-liberalism, neo-conservatism, and new managerialism within universities. Hopeful Pedagogies in Higher Education acknowledges some of these criticisms but attempts to rescue critical pedagogy, locating some of its associated pessimism as misreading of Freire and offering hopeful avenues for new theory and practice. These misreadings are also located in the present in the assumption that unless change comes within the lifetime of the project, it has somehow failed. Instead, this book argues that a positive utopianism is possible. Present actions need to be celebrated and cultivated as symbols of hope, possibility, and generativity for the future, which the concept of hope implies. The contributors make the case for celebrating the pedagogies of HE that operate in liminal spaces, situated in the spaces between the present and the future, between the world as it is and the world as it could be, and also in the cracks that are beginning to show in the dominant discourses.

Barrenness and Blessing Hemchand Gossai, 2010-06-24 The stories of this book are about the permanent interaction between God and humankind. These narratives invite us to witness the manner in which God enters human community in all of its complexities, struggles, challenges, fears, and ultimately hope. Hemchand Gossai not just discussed the large variety of themes within this text but also kept an eye on the implications for the Church and contemporary readers Some experiences like the barrenness wilderness and the wrestling with God are described as metaphors The richness and texture of these metaphors allow the reader to embrace these stories in a way that makes them our stories , Theologies of Hope in the Twelfth and Thirteenth Centuries Christopher Dyczek,2023-11-15 This book is a translation of J G Bougerol's research and positions this in relation to recent post doctoral studies of the Summa Halensis from King's College London It identifies literary aspects of religious fears in medieval and nineteenth century theology as both a New Testament and a scholastic problem Academically trained preachers in European culture are viewed through the lens of dynamic community language and Franciscan initiatives for confident peace seeking theology are mapped out in detail Galina'S Hope Galina Loseva Messmer,2015-09-23 One of nature's most hopeful sights is a beam of golden sunshine burning through the dark and churning clouds of a raging storm that has just subsided That is the very picture of Galina's story quintessentially Russian and very moving one that will infuse the reader with a feeling of intense hope It is a must read for anyone facing an oncoming storm standing in the midst of one or still reeling in the devastation of tribulation tragedy and loss Galina grew up in the post Stalin years of the Soviet Union when Christianity was still the target of state oppression As a young woman she joined an underground church in the city of Krasnodar and boldly shared her faith After a romance with a tragic ending she struck out on her own seeking happiness in the sunny seaside city of Yalta on the coast of the Black Sea Instead her life became an epic struggle of hope versus despair life and death even while she was surrounded by the beauty of tsarist palaces and beaches Her faith had been shaken to its foundations and Soviet society collapsed around her in political and economic chaos She immigrated to America hoping for a better life But darkness followed and within its shadows a cataclysmic act played out in Fresno California on the evening of January 22 1999 The horrific drama riveted the attention of the entire city and became the subject of television and newspaper headlines It left people shocked bewildered and saddened But Galina refused to let despair conquer her This is the story of Galina's Hope

The Covenant Motif in Jeremiah's Book of Comfort Tiberius Rata, 2007 The Covenant Motif in Jeremiah's Book of Comfort Textual and Intertextual Studies of Jeremiah 30-33 examines Jeremiah's promise of a new covenant that God will interiorize his law into people's hearts. This in-depth syntactic, semantic, and pragmatic study of selected texts in Jeremiah 30-33 comprises the foundation for a superb biblical theology of the new covenant. God's pledge that this covenant is not like the one I made with your fathers is explored in relation to the Abrahamic Mosaic and Davidic covenants. Tiberius Rata makes a theologically and hermeneutically balanced incursion into Old Testament texts used in the New Testament and provides a springboard for further discussion on difficult yet important issues such as the Lord's Supper and the future of Israel.
