James, 1979 The Big Cottonwood area lies in the highest portion of the Wasatch Mountains southeast of Salt Lake City It contains exposed geologic features developed during two billion years of earth history Discoveries of small but rich mineral deposits within the area led to a colorful moderately productive century long period of metal mining While there is no mining activity in the Big Cottonwood mining district today the area is of considerable interest to students of regional geology and to numerous visitors to the mountain recreational areas Major thrust faulting is well exposed in outcrops and in mine workings and is of economic importance on a regional scale The unusual occurrence of the major ore bodies at the intersections of steep fissure veins with several overthrust planes similar to that of deposits mined in the adjoining Little Cottonwood Alta and American Fork districts to the south is a classic regional feature The small deposits in the older Precambrian rocks at the eastern edge of the district present features not seen elsewhere in the state This report presents new detail on these and other aspects of the geology of the district and records available geology and history of the many formerly active underground mines It presents an update on regional geology It is written for readers of many interests not merely for economic geologists 98 pages 4 plates Geology of the Big Bend Area and Solitario Dome, Texas, 1986 Battle of the Big Hole Aubrey Haines, Calvin Haines, 2024-03-26 In Battle of the Big Hole noted historian Aubrey Haines has compiled the many written and first person accounts of this historic moment in the Indian Wars into a complete and exhaustive history of the 1877 battle Ultimately neither the U S forces or their adversaries could claim victory in the two day struggle in this idyllic setting in southwest Montana and the Nez Perce continued their dramatic flight for freedom after heavy losses on both sides This fine volume reveals the story of the landmark battle of the Nez Perce War with reproductions of first person accounts of the battle photographs maps and drawings Modern History Or the Present State of All Nations Thomas Salmon, 1746 The National Geographic Magazine, 1908 Indexes kept up to date with supplements Batty Business Toni Risson, 2008 A NEW ADVENTURE WITH LUKE AND ALEX FROM LICKING LIZARDS Luke and Alex are on a new expedition down by the river This time they are joined by Luke's classmate Kevin who to Alex's delight is an excellent cook having taken over this role in the absence of his father and with his sick mother Forced to find themselves a new secret hideout the boys relocate to a disused mineshaft only to discover it already inhabited by a giant bat But after listening to tales from Kevin's mother and grandmother they soon become convinced that this enormous foul smelling animal is actually a harpy sent from Ancient Greece to protect the elixir of life The boys have to try to solve the mystery and keep both their hideout and the creature safe from prying eyes especially those of Jason the school bully From the author of Licking Lizards comes another great adventure about rivers secret hideouts and friendships Annual Report of the Chief of Engineers to the Secretary of War for the Year ... United States.
