The Holocaust Where Was God:

The Irrevocable Call of God Richard H. Bell, 2005 Richard Bell examines the impact of Paul's life changing experience before Damascus on his theological understanding of Israel. The book considers the development of Paul's view concerning the election and salvation of Israel paying special attention to 1 Thessalonians Galatians and Romans. The author examines Paul's critique of Israel's religion in the light of traditional protestant approaches and the new perspective. The work concludes by considering some contemporary issues relating to Israel in the light of Paul's theology. BOOK JACKET

Thinking through the Death of God Lissa McCullough, Brian Schroeder, 2012-02-01 The leading exponent of the death of God theology of the 1960s Thomas J. J. Altizer created a media sensation at the time and defined a major new direction in philosophical theology. Altizer has continued to refine his thought throughout his career and his systematic theological work has achieved its prime as shown in this collaborative critical response to his thought. This book is also the first collection of its kind to appear in nearly thirty years and thus the first to deal with the most sophisticated period of his work. A response from Altizer is included along with a comprehensive bibliography of his work. God at the Center David R. The God-Image Lionel Corbett, 2021-11-01 This book describes the development of images of God beginning in antiquity and culminating in Jung's notion of the Self: an image of God in the psyche that Jung calls the God within. Over the course of history the Self has been projected onto many local gods and goddesses and given different names and attributes. These deities are typically imagined as existing in a heavenly realm but Jung's approach recalls them to their origins in the objective psyche. This book shows how Jung's approach avoids many of the philosophical problems produced by traditional anthropomorphic images of God and describes the myriad symbolic ways in which the Self may appear independently of doctrinal images of God. By focusing on the empirical psychological manifestations of the Self Jung's approach avoids arguments for and against the existence of a metaphysical God. The Way Into Encountering God In Judaism Rabbi

Living the Death of God Thomas J. J. Altizer, 2012-02-01 Theologian Thomas J. J. Altizer became both famous and infamous as the chief spokesman for death of God theology in the 1960s. In the years that followed he has created a theological tradition that has influenced all succeeding generations of theologians. Living the Death of God is Altizer's theological memoir. Taking us from his transformation as a theological student to his present life of solitude, Altizer recapitulates the voyage to create a truly new theology. The memoir recounts each stage of this voyage from being overwhelmed by Satan to a conversion to the death of God and an extensive and even ecstatic preaching of the death of God. However, this is the death of that God who is the wholly alienated God: a death realizing anew the crucified God or the

Pool, 2009-01-01 This book constitutes the first volume of a three volume study of Christian testimonies to divine suffering God s Wounds Hermeneutic of the Christian Symbol of Divine Suffering Divine Vulnerability and Creation This study first develops an approach to interpreting the contested claims about the suffering of God Thus the larger study focuses its inquiry into the testimonies to divine suffering themselves seeking to allow the voices that attest to divine suffering to speak freely to discover and elucidate the internal logic or rationality of this family of testimonies rather than defending these attestations against the dominant claims of classical Christian theism that have historically sought to eliminate such language altogether from Christian discourse about the nature and life of God Through this approach this volume of studies into the Christian symbol of divine suffering then investigates the two major presuppositions that the larger family of testimonies to divine suffering normally hold an understanding of God through the primary metaphor of love God is love and an understanding of the human as created in the image of God with a life though finite analogous to the divine life the imago Dei as love When fully elaborated these presuppositions reveal the conditions of possibility for divine suffering and divine vulnerability with respect to creation
