Mary Gladys Meredith Webb, 1928      The house in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, 1929      The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, 2004-06-01 Jasper turned and went out He would buy the candles himself But he had no money He went to look for his father and found him feeding the gun dogs They received their supper with imperturbable pessimism as if they had been soured by their life work of putting others in the way of getting what they themselves wanted and as if they knew that Solomon liked them not for what they were but for what they did And as they trailed after Solomon on their leads day by day they had an air of being two very old people playing with a small boy It was evident that when his back was turned glances of amused tolerance were exchanged      The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, 2019-07-02 In the depths of Dormer Forest nestling in a valley lies Dormer Old House inhabited by the Drake family Solomon and Rachael with their four grown children intense idealistic Jasper Ruby pretty but silly black eyed Peter and the odd one out Amber a girl with a genius for loving and laughing There too lives cousin Catherine of the slanting eyes whose pleasure it is to ensnare men s hearts Brooding over all is the great matriarch Grandmother Velindre with her religious texts and reprimands her beady eye ever upon the five young people in serach of love and happiness As the fate of each unfolds it is Amber who emerges triumphant one still June morning she is found under a blossom tree by a strange and noble man      The House in Dormer Forest Mary Meredith Webb, 1951
The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, 1935      The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, Mary, 2018-01-17 This is a short and intrinsically simple story about a house deep in the Shropshire countryside full of people some likeable most not who hate each other and long to break free The trouble is none of them can find a way out that isn t yet another form of prison for them In the end the more likeable characters choose to defy convention and do escape      The House in Dormer Forest Gladys Mary WEBB, 1920      The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb, 2021-08-31 In her novel The House in Dormer Forest Mary Webb crafts a poignant narrative set against the backdrop of the English countryside intricately weaving themes of nature love and the human spirit The prose is imbued with rich lyrical descriptions that reflect Webb s deep reverence for the natural world The plot revolves around the lives of its compelling characters whose struggles and aspirations are poignantly intertwined with their environment inviting readers into a realm where the setting itself serves as a character echoing Romantic literary traditions Mary Webb a prominent figure of the early 20th century drew upon her own experiences growing up in Shropshire a region characterized by its picturesque landscapes and rural hardships Her acute observations of human nature and her affinity for the rural milieu shine through in her writing making The House in Dormer Forest an authentic exploration of the intersection between humanity and nature Webb s work often reflects her life s challenges including her battle with health issues which imbued her narratives with a profound sense of empathy and understanding This book is highly recommended for readers seeking a richly detailed exploration of human emotions
