The House In Paris:

The House in Paris Elizabeth Bowen, 2019-06-05 One of Elizabeth Bowen's most artful and psychologically acute novels. The House in Paris is a timeless masterpiece of nuance and atmosphere and represents the very best of Bowen's celebrated oeuvre. When eleven-year-old Henrietta arrives at the Fishers' well-appointed house in Paris, she is prepared to spend her day between trains, looked after by an old friend of her grandmother's. Henrietta longs to see a few sights in the foreign city, little does she know what fascinating secrets the Fisher house itself contains. For Henrietta finds that her visit coincides with that of Leopold, an intense child who has come to Paris to be introduced to the mother he has never known. In the course of a single day, the relations between Leopold, Henrietta's agitated hostess Naomi Fisher, Leopold's mysterious mother, his dead father, and the dying matriarch in bed upstairs come to light slowly and tantalizingly. And when Henrietta leaves the house that evening, it is in possession of the kind of grave knowledge usually reserved only for adults.

Late Modernism and Expatriation Lauren Arrington, 2022-01-15 How did living abroad inflect writers' perspectives on social change in the countries of their birth and in their adopted homelands? How did writers reformulate ideas of social class, race, and gender in these new contexts? How did they develop innovations in form and technique to achieve a style that reflected their social and political commitments The essays in this book show how the outward turn that typifies late modernist writing was precipitated in part by writers experience of expatriation Late Modernism Expatriation encompasses writing from the 1930s to the present day and considers expatriation in both its voluntary and coerced manifestations Together the essays in this book shape our understanding of how migration especially in its late twentieth and twenty first century complexities affects late modernism s temporalities The book attends to major theoretical questions about mapping late modernist networks and it foregrounds neglected aspects of writers work while placing other writers in a new frame The House in Paris Dewey Ward,1971
