Learning Disabilities Tina A. Newman, Robert J. Sternberg, 2012-12-06 We were motivated to edit this book when we began to hear stories of exceptional students who were struggling with reading writing or math but who could solve seemingly any problem with computers or build the most intricate structures with Legos or could draw beautiful pictures or could tell the most creative stories but ended up in tears when asked to write it out How is it possible to have so much talent in some areas and yet to appear to have a disability in another What resources are available for these students How can we ensure that these students abilities are nurtured and developed Our goal in this book is to provide ideas and possibly even tentative answers for educators and to stimulate more questions to be answered by researchers We have ourselves been addressing related questions for some time Our group at the PACE Center at Yale has explored the development of abilities competencies and expertise that allow people to be successful in life Through this work we have collaborated with school districts and other educators and researchers across the country to expand the notion of what is traditionally thought of as intelligence We use the concept of successful intelligence to allow for the possibility that the skills traditionally taught in school are not the only ones and often not even the most important ones that allow people to be successful in the world Neurodiversity Studies Hanna Rosqvist, Nick Chown, Anna Stenning, 2020-06-02 Building on work in feminist studies queer studies and critical race theory this volume challenges the universality of propositions about human nature by questioning the boundaries between predominant neurotypes and others including dyslexics autistics and ADHDers This is the first work of its kind to bring cutting edge research across disciplines to the concept of neurodiversity It offers in depth explorations of the themes of cure prevention eugenics neurodivergent wellbeing cross neurotype communication neurodiversity at work and challenging brain bound cognition It analyses the role of neuro normativity in theorising agency and a proposal for a new alliance between the Hearing Voices Movement and neurodiversity In doing so we contribute to a cultural imperative to redefine what it means to be human To this end we propose a new field of enquiry that finds ways to support the inclusion of neurodivergent perspectives in knowledge production and which questions the theoretical and mythological assumptions that produce the idea of the neurotypical Working at the crossroads between sociology critical psychology medical humanities critical disability studies and critical autism studies and sharing theoretical ground with critical race studies and critical queer studies the proposed new field neurodiversity studies will be of interest to people working in all these areas Chapter 7 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license
