Chinese Television in the Twenty-First Century Ruoyun Bai, Geng Song, 2014-09-15 The past two decades witnessed the rise of television entertainment in China Although television networks are still state owned and Party controlled in China the ideological landscape of television programs has become increasingly diverse and even paradoxical simultaneously subservient and defiant nationalistic and cosmopolitan moralistic and fun loving extravagant and mundane Studying Chinese television as a key node in the network of power relationships therefore provides us with a unique opportunity to understand the tension fraught and paradox permeated conditions of Chinese post socialism This book argues for a serious engagement with television entertainment rethinking It addresses the following questions How is entertainment television politically and culturally significant in the Chinese context How have political industrial and technological changes in the 2000s affected the way Chinese television relates to the state and society How can we think of media regulation and censorship without perpetuating the myth of a self serving authoritarian regime vs a subdued cultural workforce What do popular televisual texts tell us about the unsettled and reconfigured relations between commercial television and the state The book presents a number of studies of popular television programs that are sensitive to the changing production and regulatory contexts for Chinese television in the twenty first century As an interdisciplinary study of the television industry this book covers a number of important issues in China today such as censorship nationalism consumerism social justice and the central and local authorities As such it will appeal to a broad audience including students and scholars of Chinese culture and society media studies television studies and cultural studies

Turning the Power Nathan Sowry, 2025-04 In Turning the Power Nathan Sowry examines how some Native American students from the boarding school system with its forced assimilationist education became key cultural informants for anthropologists conducting fieldwork during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Salvage anthropologists of this era relied on Native informants to accomplish their mission of saving Native American cultures and ultimately turned many informants into anthropologists after years of fieldwork experience Sowry investigates ten relatively unknown Native American anthropologists and collaborators who from 1878 to 1930 attended a religiously affiliated mission school a federal Indian boarding school or both He tells the stories of Native anthropologists Tichkematse William Jones and James R Murie who were alumni of the Hampton Institute in Virginia Richard Davis and Cleaver Warden were among the first and second classes to attend the Carlisle Indian Industrial School in Pennsylvania Amos Oneroad graduated from the Haskell Indian Industrial Training School in Lawrence Kansas after attending mission and boarding schools in South Dakota D C Duvall John V Satterlee and Florence and Louis Shotridge attended smaller boarding and mission schools in Montana Wisconsin and Alaska Territory respectively Turning the Power follows the forced indoctrination of Native American students and then details how each of them turned the power using their English knowledge and work experience in the anthropological field to embrace document and preserve their Native cultures rather than abandoning their heritage

To-day, 1852 Haa Tuwunáagu Yís, for Healing Our Spirit Nora Dauenhauer, Richard Dauenhauer, 1990 Haa Tuwunaagu Yis for Healing Our Spirit is the first publication of Tlingit oratory recorded in performance It features Tlingit texts with facing English translations and detailed annotations photographs of the orators and the settings in which the speeches were delivered and biographies of the elders There are thirty two speeches by twenty one Tlingit elders Most were taped between 1968 and 1988 but two speeches were recorded on wax cylinders by the Harriman Expedition in Sitka in 1899 and are the oldest known sound recordings of Tlingit The book is of importance both to native and non native readers alike For those of Native American heritage it articulates concepts understood and practiced by elders but difficult for them to explain and often bewildering to younger generations For people around the world interested in Northwest Coast culture it offers new insights into a traditional world view and the classics of Tlingit oral literature Careful attention is given to transcription translation and annotation by the collaboration of Nora Marks Dauenhauer a native speaker of Tlingit and a published poet with a degree in anthropology and her husband Richard Dauenhauer a translator of European poetry and a

Snails Maureen Burdock,2022-11-29 Uprooted from her childhood in Germany and set adrift in the American Midwest Maureen was raised by a kind but neglectful mother who loved Jesus more than her own child and a stern disinterested grandmother who waxed nostalgic about Nazi Germany Growing up queer and isolated Maureen often felt unmoored and unloved Years later Maureen reflects upon her complicated past Queen of Snails follows Maureen through time and memory in her quest to untangle the trauma passed down to her over three generations of women Part memoir and part family history Queen of Snails is a beautifully drawn powerful story that examines and transmutes the emotional baggage of violence abandonment and displacement Moving to Goa Katarina Kakar,2013-12-15 Many people dream of escaping the stresses and strains of urban life and moving to Goa Katharina Kakar and her husband the psychoanalyst and writer Sudhir Kakar followed their dream and boldly took that plunge buying a charming old house in a tranquil south Goa village where they hoped to find a whole new way of living and working Ten years later they are still there living the idyll and the reality of life in Goa So which is the real Goa Is it all about sun and sand beaches and bikinis feni and vindaloo This book captures the allure of all these as well as the festivals and rituals that punctuate the rhythm of village life It portrays fascinating local characters ranging from ageing hippies beach boys and elusive workmen to the aristocratic residents of Goa s grand old mansions But it also reveals lesser known aspects of Goa the hidden often shocking histories of its colonial past and the debates and fissures that engage and divide Goan society today In part personal memoir and travelogue in part an insightful look at Goan history and society this book portrays Goa with all its paradoxes and problems its seductive pleasures and above all its unique and enduring charm Danish Fairy Legends and Tales ...
