Social Care:

Social care Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Health Committee,2010-03-12 The Health Committee calls for fundamental reform of the social care system in England and says political point scoring must stop Instead of indulging in pre election politicking all the parties should come together to map out sustainable reform Consensus on the details of reforms must be achieved early in the new Parliament and a failure to do so will betray current and future generations The report says the current social care system is chronically underfunded severely rationed locally variable too often of poor quality and discriminates against older people The Committee is highly critical of the Government s Free Personal Care at Home Bill which it says smacks of policy making on the hoof and risks creating perverse incentives and being substantially underfunded Free care funded from taxation has many supporters but has been ruled out as an option by the Government The Committee urges debate on this issue It also acknowledges the widespread concern about the proposed reform of disability benefits for older people noting the lack of clear information from the Government on who the winners and losers will be To mitigate significantly the worst aspects of the existing funding system as an interim measure the Committee recommends raising the capital thresholds in the means test The Committee strongly supports giving people more choice and control over their care and support but emphasises that vulnerable people must be properly protected Practical Budget

Thirty years ago when compared to the U S, England, France, and Sweden, Japan had the lowest life expectancy for males and females. Today, Japan has the highest life expectancy and is the world's most rapidly aging society. Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan captures the vitality of Japanese policymakers and the challenges they face in shaping a modern society responding to its changing needs. The rapid transition to an aging society poses a set of complex policy and resource dilemmas; the responses taken in Japan are of great value to policymakers, professionals, and students in the fields of gerontology, Asian and Japanese studies, sociology, public policy, administration and management, and anthropology. In other industrial aging societies, Readers of Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan will discover the array of social and economic implications that comes with an increasingly aged society. Such a change in demographics affects pension expenditures and pension contributions, capital formation and savings rates, health costs, service systems, tax bases, labor pools, career counseling, training, advertising, and marketing. This book does not stop with these topics; however, Readers also learn about how older Japanese workers are staying employed and employable, policies in Japan for a smooth transition from work to retirement, Japan's Silver Human Resource Centers, the new direction of health services in Japan, the Japanese financing system for elderly health care, the expansion of formalized in-home services for Japan's aged, Japanese housing policy, and the concept of universal design. The Gold Plan, a comprehensive ten-year plan to promote health care and welfare for the aged, the concept of ikigai (promoting feelings of purpose and self-worth in the aged), Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan is one of only a handful of books prepared in English by American and Japanese authors for an international audience about aging and social policy in Japan. The book's recent collection of articles by leading scholars on the subject makes it a unique and timely source of information. Above all, Public Policy and the Old Age Revolution in Japan makes it clear that the rest of the world has many valuable lessons to learn by studying Japan's approach to its rapidly aging society. EBOOK: Older Workers in Europe Anthony Chiva, Jill Manthorpe, 2008-11-16. This fascinating book brings together an extraordinarily diverse collection of insights from a wide range of experts. A broad overview is created by the foreword from Jumbo Klercq. This sets the scene for the subsequent chapters which examine more specific approaches and ways of tackling age diversity and ageing in the workplace. A key contribution by Sarah Harper analyses the research and evidence on factors which impact on older workers. This is complemented by an exploration of older workers' attitudes to work based on primary research undertaken by Stephen McNair and Mat Flynn. Chiva and Manthorpe also include examples of innovative practice in working with individuals, employers, and intermediaries, and feature contributions from researchers in the UK, France, Poland, Spain, and Norway. Older Workers in Europe is ideal for students of gerontology, social policy, sociology, and human resource management. It will also be of interest to policy makers and professionals working in the fields of employment and guidance policy economics labour force development and research

Deprivation of Liberty in the Shadows of the Institution Lucy Series, 2022-03-29 ePDF and ePUB available Open Access under CC BY NC licence During the 20th century the locus of care shifted from large institutions into the community However this shift was not always accompanied by liberation from restrictive practices In 2014 a UK Supreme Court ruling on the meaning of deprivation of liberty resulted in large numbers of older and disabled people in care homes supported living and family homes being re categorized as detained Placing this ruling in its social historical and global context this book presents a socio legal analysis of social care detention in the post carceral era Drawing from disability rights law and the meanings of home and institution it proposes solutions to the Cheshire West ruling s paradoxical implications
