Families, Violence And Social Change McKie, Linda, 2005-03-01 This comprehensive analysis on abuse committed in the home provides insights at both the micro and macro levels The book combines legal and social science approaches in a way that makes it essential reading for anyone studying or working on violence related issues

Kev t Nousiainen University of Helsinki Johanna Niemi Kiesil inen University of Ume and Anu Pylkk nen University of Helsinki This excellent book offers a timely intervention into debates about violence Whilst most debates still focus on the spectacular rather than mundane forms of violence Linda McKie uses a synthesis of legal sociological and feminist research to show how current debates fail to deal with the violence that underpins our lives Prof Beverley Skeggs University of London

An exciting new addition to the series this book tackles assumptions surrounding the family as a changing institution and supposed haven from the public sphere of life It considers families and social change in terms of concepts of power inequality gender generations sexuality and ethnicity Some commentators suggest the family is threatened by increasing economic and social uncertainties and an enhanced focus upon the individual This book provides a resume of these debates as well as a critical review of the theories of family and social change Charts social and economic changes and their impact on the family Considers the prevalence and nature of abuse within families Explores the relationship between social theory families and changing issues in familial relationships Develops a theory of social change and families through a critical and pragmatic stance Key reading for undergraduate students of sociology reading courses such as family gender health criminology and social change

we have chosen a focus that places in context aspects of mental health and the complex psychosocial factors that affect our perceptions of how health and illness are defined and experienced. We are aware that some may take exceptions to the topics chosen or to the way in which some authors have developed their ideas and presented their information. While we cannot expect to agree with each other all of the time, we can provide a framework and a perspective from which ideas can take form and evolve. The first section of Volume 2 provides an overview of some of the theoretical issues involved in understanding the psychology of women. These issues include changes in psychoanalytic views particularly in relation to femininity and feminine development. The particular developmental experiences of black women are also clearly delineated. The second section deals with specific points in the life cycle that raise unique issues for women, especially as they pertain to the many roles of women in contemporary society and the impact that these roles have on their careers and on their families. The impact of having a working mother on the early interaction with children, the concerns of midlife, especially marital interactions and the ambiguities of aging are discussed. We intend to provide information and to raise questions that we hope will be part of an ongoing dialogue as well as a stimulus to more intensive study and understanding.

Gender and Women's Leadership
 Karen O'Connor, 2010-08-18. These volumes provide an authoritative reference resource on leadership issues specific to women and gender with a focus on positive aspects and opportunities for leadership in various domains.

Women's Human Rights
 Anne Hellum, Henriette Sinding Aasen, 2013-07-11. As an instrument which addresses the circumstances which affect women's lives and enjoyment of rights in a diverse world, the CEDAW is slowly but surely making its mark on the development of international and national law. Using national case studies from South Asia, Southern Africa, Australia, Canada and Northern Europe, Women's Human Rights examines the potential and actual added value of the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women in comparison and interaction with other equality and anti-discrimination mechanisms. The studies demonstrate how state and non-state actors have invoked, adopted or resisted the CEDAW and related instruments in different legal, political, economic and socio-cultural contexts and how the various international, regional and national regimes have drawn inspiration and learned from each other.

Same-Sex Relationships, Law and Social Change
 Frances Hamilton, Guido Noto La Diega, 2020-01-15. This edited collection provides a forum for rigorous analysis of the necessity for both legal and social change with regard to regulation of same-sex relationships and rainbow families, the status of civil partnership as a concept and the lived reality of equality for LGBTQ persons. Twenty-eight jurisdictions worldwide have now legalised same-sex marriage and many others some level of civil partnership. In contrast, other jurisdictions refuse to recognise or even criminalise same-sex relationships. At a Council of Europe level, there is no requirement for contracting states to legalise same-sex marriage. Whilst the Court of Justice of the European Union now requires contracting states to recognise same-sex marriages for the purpose of free movement and residency rights unlike the US Supreme Court it does not require EU Member States to legalise same sex marriage Law and Sociology scholars from five key jurisdictions England and Wales Italy Australia Canada and the Republic of Ireland examine the role of the Council of Europe European Union and further international regimes A balanced approach between the competing views of critically analytical rights based theorists and queer and feminist theorists interrogates the current international consensus in this fast moving area The incrementalist theory whilst offering a methodology for future advances continues to be critiqued All contributions from differing perspectives expose that even for those jurisdictions who have legalised same sex marriage still further and continuous work needs to be done The book will be of interest to students and scholars in the field of human rights family and marriage law and gender studies Global Aging and Challenges to Families Vern Bengtson, 2018-01-16 The recent explosion in population ageing across the globe represents one of the most remarkable demographic changes in human history Population ageing will profoundly affect families Who will care for the growing numbers of tomorrows very old members of societies Will it be state governments The aged themselves Their families The purpose of this book is to examine consequences of global aging for families and intergenerational support and for nations as they plan for the future Resources in Women's Educational Equity: Special Issue ,1979
