Steel Decisions And The National Economy:

Steel Decisions and the National Economy Henry W. Broude, 1963 Economics and the USA iron and steel industry Dependency of the national level economy on the iron and steel industry Theoretic study of its role in economic development Analysis of demand for iron and steel Factors affecting decision making in respect of production investment business organization the market and technological change Case studies Possible industrial policy Bibliography pp 309 to 333 An Economic History of the American Steel Industry Robert P. Rogers, 2009-03-30 This book provides a basic outline of the history of the American steel industry a sector of the economy that has been an important part of the industrial system The book starts with the 1830 s when the American iron and steel industry resembled the traditional iron producing sector that had existed in the old world for centuries and it ends in 2001 The product of this industry steel is an alloy of iron and carbon that has become the most used metal in the world The very size of the steel industry and its position in the modern economy give it an unusual relevance to the economic social and political system The Divergent Dynamics of Economic Growth Richard H. Day, 2003-11-13 This book explains how changing technology and economizing behaviour induce vast changes in productivity resource allocation labour utilization and patterns of living Economic growth is seen as a process by which businesses regimes countries and the whole world pass through distinct epochs each one emerging from its predecessor each one creating the conditions for its successor Viewed from a long run perspective growth must be characterized as an explosive process marked by turbulent transitions in social and political life as societies adapt to new opportunities the demise of old ways of living and to the vast increase and redistribution of human populations The book is based on a synthesis of classical economics and contemporary concepts of adaptation and economic evolution Although it is based on analytical methods the text has been stripped of all equations and with few exceptions is devoid of technical jargon A Study of Steel Prices Council on Wage and Price Stability (U.S.), 1975 Landscapes of Power Sharon Zukin, 1993-03-12 The momentous changes which are transforming American life call for a new exploration of the economic and cultural landscape In this book Sharon Zukin links our ever expanding need to consume with two fundamental shifts places of production have given way to spaces for services and paperwork and the competitive edge has moved from industrial to cultural capital From the steel mills of the Rust Belt to the sterile malls of suburbia to the gentrified urban centers of our largest cities the creative destruction of our economy a process by which a way of life is both lost and gained results in a dramatically different landscape of economic power Sharon Zukin probes the depth and diversity of this restructuring in a series of portraits of changed or changing American places Beginning at River Rouge Henry Ford s industrial complex in Dearborn Michigan and ending at Disney World Zukin demonstrates how powerful interests shape the spaces we inhabit Among the landscapes she examines are steeltowns in West Virginia and Michigan affluent corporate suburbs in Westchester County gentrified areas of lower Manhattan and theme parks in Florida and California In each of these case studies new strategies of investment and employment are filtered through existing institutions experience in both production and consumption and represented in material products aesthetic forms and new perceptions of space and time The current transformation differs from those of the past in that individuals and institutions now have far greater power to alter the course of change making the creative destruction of landscape the most important cultural product of our time Zukin s eclectic inquiry into the parameters of social action and the emergence of new cultural forms defines the interdisciplinary frontier where sociology geography economics and urban and cultural studies meet Management Theories and Strategic Practices for Decision Making Tavana, Madjid,2012-11-30 There is an immense amount of information to be considered when attempting to solve complex strategic problems To recognize the complexity of this process the creation of tools and techniques are essential to aid decision makers in developing a rational model for strategy evaluation Management Theories and Strategic Practices for Decision Making brings together a collection of research aiming to provide communication for the management of new methodologies to solve strategic problems and applying decision making approaches This reference is useful for government agencies practicing managers academic and research institutions interested in bringing together strategic decision making and decision sciences The Politics of Steel Yves Mny,Vincent Wright,Martin Rhodes,1987 No detailed description available for The Politics of Steel The Termination Report of the National War Labor Board United States.
