Stella The Long Road Home:

The Long Road Home... Richard McKenzie Neal,2009-11 By this point in our lives my target readers we ve all heard the old adage You can t go home But what does it mean As life winds down and the drone of existence begins to wane I m feeling an intangible desire or need to reach back into my past and reconnect with a by gone time and people living and or dead It feels like an elusive melody that seems distantly familiar yet strange and unidentifiable If all the above sounds like a premonition of the inevitable I agree and accept that my time is ticking away But it s not about dying it s about going home I m not afraid of dying but I do struggle with the reality that I will no longer physically exist I have to wonder if the term going home isn t a misnomer and maybe just maybe we re trying to return to Neverland Fridays With Landon When we were very young we searched for that elusive utopian community and studies have shown that in our declining years we slowly revert to our childhood Another line of thought is that it s all just a mirage We know and accept that a man can be dying of thirst in the middle of the driest desert and his mind will anesthetize him by creating the illusion of an oasis If we can acknowledge that phenomenon the mind s coping mechanism then it shouldn t be much of a stretch to reason that the elderly possess those same innate coping capabilities to ease their journey home Of course their mirage would be about going home not to a place but to another time What is the driver for this apparently universal pilgrimage I have to wonder even compare it to an addict s motivation The Path to Addiction one more trip down that path of pleasant memories even as the host is being sacrificed

The Long Road Home Danielle Harvel,2012-10-01 Nicole awoke to her own screams shrieking at the very top of her lungs Her voice was distant to her as though she was in a cave Her throat burned with each wail from days of the same The dream awakened her at the same time every morning She lay in a puddle of sweat the perspiration and tears soaking her eyelashes Her heart beat without any rhythm just hurriedly It was like someone striking a key of a typewriter over and over as quickly as possible until the chime would ring announcing the margin had been reached Her whole body ached as though it had been running a race that it was not conditioned for It would only be a moment before her aunt would burst through the doors to make sure she was okay She began taking deep breaths to calm herself and wiped her face furiously She looked around the strange room that was to become her own and felt like a flower that had sprung up in a desert She was wilting in a foreign land dying in a place where she was not supposed to be where she could not breathe The Long Road Home

David Berns,2010-02 Author s memoirs from 1938 2008 Includes Hartford childhood and arrival of grandchildren Taking a Long Road Home Eugene C. Bianchi,2010-11-15 This memoir invites readers to explore stages of their own spiritual journey Bianchi graphically describes his path from an Italian immigrant family on the West Coast through twenty years as a

Jesuit to being a professor of religious studies at Emory University As he develops a more this worldly inner life Bianchi struggles with church teachings about Christ sexuality and authority He candidly reveals how failed marriages gave him a humbler grasp of meeting the transcendent in everyday problems He embraces a contemplative spirituality that links Buddhist and Taoist practices with western mysticism With a foot in Christianity he shows how to walk a way of inter spirituality as a meaningful road for the contemporary seeker For Bianchi this involves becoming a metaphorical Christian as he moves away from religious certitudes of early life to find spirit in nature and humanity Bianchi a well known writer on spiritual aging challenges Baby Boomers to craft a contemplative life that works for them today With his wife and two cats he discovers a home for body and spirit along the banks of the Oconee River in Athens Georgia A Long Way Home Terence Dillon,2013-12 A Long Way Home is a dramatic and tension filled fictional story that explores the relationship between the English and the Irish in the late nineteenth century It provides a fascinating insight into the issues created when those looking for conciliation come into conflict with those relying on confrontation in the struggle for Irish independence The book traces the experiences of Paul Doherty an Irishman immigrant In a story that raises important issues of race class religion sex violence and secret societies Doherty struggles to look for conciliation rather than confrontation bringing him into conflict with his great friend and fellow Irishman Will who is a member of the Irish Republican Brotherhood The theme of confrontation and conciliation continues through the relationships Doherty has with the English arch racist Maurice Whitehouse and the English philanthropist William Harding The book also draws upon comparisons between life in rural Ireland and the dark streets of an English industrial town of the late nineteenth century as it builds to a powerful conclusion of romance and violence Stella, the Long Road Home D. Meagher,2004-02-23 Bill Grimes was an army sergeant assigned to a grave registration company in the European Theater of war from 1944 until the cessation of hostilities While performing his assigned duties he happened upon a live infant who had apparently been discarded after being subjected to German medical experimentation Upon this discovery and with the US army's refusal to render aid he took care of her as best he was able and managed to smuggle her into the USA After traversing half the continent he was able to provide her with medical aid and documentation He raised her as his granddaughter Stella would be in her forties before medical problems would prove she was a Jew not Irish and Swedish as she had always been told Always knowing uncertainty she was now even more so as her life crumbled around her Movie Minorities Hye Seung Chung,David Scott Diffrient,2021-08-13 Rights advocacy has become a prominent facet of South Korea's increasingly transnational motion picture output especially following the 1998 presidential inauguration of Kim Dae jung a former political prisoner and victim of human rights abuses who received the Nobel Peace Prize in 2000 Today it is not unusual to see a big budget production about the pursuit of social justice or the protection of civil liberties contending for the top spot at the box office With that cultural shift has come a diversification of film subjects which range from undocumented workers rights to the sexual harassment experienced by women to high school bullying to the struggles among people with disabilities to gain inclusion within a society that has transformed significantly since winning democratic freedoms three decades ago Combining in depth textual analyses of films such as Bleak Night Okja Planet of Snail Repatriation and Silenced with broader historical contextualization Movie Minorities offers the first English language study of South Korean cinema s role in helping to galvanize activist social movements across several identity based categories

Stella's Barn Stanley Joseph Bieda,2011-06-22 Trouble woke me up early Only two years old my first memory startled from sleep I follow my mother to the road where she covers with old burlap a dead dog just run over My world was frightening and tough from the beginning Polish Catholic my harsh paternal grandmother ruled our house The men were there to eat and sleep Alcohol incest the norm in our neighborhood With just the clothes on our back one night Ma spirited us all away to her mother s small subsistence farm in the country where I woke up to imagine I had died and found myself in the Garden of Eden Plants animals fishing in the old muddy river across the railroad tracks here I could dream All short lived when we moved again into our barn like house of stark poverty and deprivation I learned from my mother how to ride the rapids how to grab onto the sides of life s often flimsy careening boat Catastrophe visited us but you will see how our story my hope survived

Chasing Portraits Elizabeth Rynecki,2016-09-06 The memoir of one woman s emotional quest to find the art of her Polish Jewish great grandfather lost during World War II Moshe Rynecki s body of work reached close to eight hundred paintings and sculptures before his life came to a tragic end It was his great granddaughter Elizabeth who sought to rediscover his legacy setting upon a journey to seek out what had been lost but never forgotten The everyday lives of the Polish Jewish community depicted in Moshe Rynecki s paintings simply blended into the background of Elizabeth Rynecki s life when she was growing up But the art transformed from familiar to extraordinary in her eyes after her grandfather Moshe s son George left behind journals detailing the loss her ancestors had endured during World War II including Moshe s art

Knowing that her family had only found a small portion of Moshe's art and that many more pieces remained to be found Elizabeth set out to find them Before Moshe was deported to the ghetto he entrusted his work to friends who would keep it safe After he was killed in the Majdanek concentration camp the art was dispersed all over the world With the help of historians curators and admirers of Moshe's work Elizabeth began the incredible and difficult task of rebuilding his collection Spanning three decades of Elizabeth's life and three generations of her family this touching memoir is a compelling narrative of the richness of one man's art the devastation of war and one woman's unexpected path to healing The Publishers Weekly, 1916 Deadbeat - Makes You Stronger Guy Adams, 2013-06-11 Max and Tom are old old friends once actors Tom now owns a jazz nightclub called Deadbeat which as well as being their source of income is also something of an in joke In a dark suburban churchyard one night they see a group of men are loading a coffin into the back of a van But why would you be taking a full coffin away from a graveyard and more importantly why is the occupant still breathing Tom and Max are on the case God help us Obituaries in the Performing Arts, 2019 Harris M.
