The Classic Christopher Prendergast,2007-06-21 Focusing on a moment and a source in nineteenth century France Christopher Prendergast takes up a big question that is still with us What is a classic The question is by virtue of its insistent recurrence itself a classic question It returns to haunt us It provided the title of a text for French critic Charles Augustin Sainte Beuve in 1850 Qu est ce qu un classique as it did in the twentieth century for T S Eliot and John Coetzee Centring on Sainte Beuve in his nineteenth century context Prendergast s inquiry takes us historically to many places antiquity the middle ages the seventeenth and eighteenth as well as the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries He also provides an intellectual history that travels across multiple disciplinary territories in addition to literary criticism and literary history classical studies comparative philology historiography and political thought Against this background The Classic maps the evolution of Sainte Beuve s thought from an initially cosmopolitan conception of the classic close in spirit to Goethe s notion of Weltliteratur to an increasingly nationalist conception with a strong emphasis on the heritage of Latinity and France as its principal legatee This emphasis was taken up by the extreme right in France after Sainte Beuve s death in a determined mobilizing of a version of the classic on behalf of a proto fascist agenda The final chapter deals with this appropriation and ends with a question of our own about Sainte Beuve s original question in the light of this bleak history perhaps the time has come to dispense with the term classic altogether The Roman Tales Stendhal,2012-11-01 A contemporary collection of stories by one of France s finest writers encounter turn us into experts more knowing and confident in our relation to the text Or conversely does it expose the gaps and limits of each reading experience Does re reading affirm our own sense of identity reconnecting us to earlier memories or does it shock and destabilize revealing discontinuities between past and present selves Is re reading uncanny a discovery of the familiar in the unfamiliar or the reverse Do certain literary devices and tropes symbols allegories for example depend on re reading to be activated Are there some texts that can only be re read Re reading is rarely discussed in depth yet it forms the core of most conversations about literature for we rarely become passionate or critical about books we have only read once It is also re reading that consolidates a core of texts into what we recognise to be a canon of literature and it is re reading again that breaks open the canon and reshapes it We re read alone but we also re read communally in the shared space of the theatre or in the translation of a text from one culture to another or one medium to another Re reading is a necessary part of the professional reader s life yet there is often in the history of the individual scholar some formative relationship with a text read obsessively in childhood This bilingual volume of essays brings together an international group of eminent scholars in order to reflect on this process of re reading in honour of Graham Falconer Professor of 19th century French literature and long term re reader The essays vary from personal reflections on formative childhood reading and self reflexive scholarly re readings to analysis of the theme of re reading in texts and presentation of new theories of re reading Gustave Flaubert Honor de Balzac Stendhal Eug ne Fromentin Guy de Maupassant Marcel Proust Samuel Beckett Dostoevsky Mikhail Bakhtin W B Yeats William Blake Roland Petit H G Wells and Anthony Hope are amongst the authors re visited in these reflections on the practice of re reading

around mimetic desire which regularly manifests itself in acquisitive rivalry when we find ourselves wanting an object because another wants it also Noting that mimetic desire is driven by our sense of inadequacy or insufficiency Girard arrives at a profound insight our desire is not fundamentally directed toward the other's object but toward the other's being We perceive the other to possess a fullness of being we lack Mimetic desire devolves into violence when our quest after the being of the other remains unfulfilled So pervasive is mimetic desire that Girard describes it as an ontological illness In Intimate Domain Reineke argues that it is necessary to augment Girard's mimetic theory if we are to give a full account of the sickness he describes Attending to familial dynamics Girard has overlooked and reclaiming aspects of his early theorizing on sensory experience Reineke utilizes psychoanalytic theory to place Girard's mimetic theory on firmer ground Drawing on three exemplary narratives Proust's In Search of Lost Time Sophocles's Antigone and Julia Kristeva's The Old Man and the Wolves the author explores familial relationships Together these narratives demonstrate that a corporeal hermeneutics founded in psychoanalytic theory can usefully augment Girard's insights thereby ensuring that mimetic theory remains a definitive resource for all who seek to understand humanity's ontological illness and identify a potential cure How to Read and Why Harold Bloom, 2001-10-02 Bloom the best known literary critic of our time shares his extensive knowledge of and profound joy in the works of a constellation of major writers including Shakespeare Cervantes Austen Dickinson Melville Wilde and O'Connor in this eloquent invitation to readers to read and read well Psyche Jacques Derrida, 2007 A twenty eight essay collection that is published in two volumes This work includes translations of seminal essays such as Psyche Invention of the Other The Retreat of Metaphor At This Very Moment in This Work Here I Am Tours de Babel and Racism's Last Word as well as three essays that appear in English
