The Mirror Test Jeffrey W. Hayzlett, 2010-05-05 Hayzlett's big booming approach is direct and to the point but done so with a smile on his face as The Mirror Test is chock full of inspirational business stories and insights from his own career Jeff Hayzlett is a big boisterous guy who has the guts to get in your face and tell you exactly why your business isn't doing well In short he asks the questions that most business managers are afraid to ask And as Jeff points out if you aren't willing to look at what's working and what isn't and then take the necessary steps to fix them well you and your colleagues and employees are in for a tough ride Known for his outspoken appearances on numerous TV reality shows Hayzlett has built his career on having the ability to get his people to look up and pay attention to the problems at hand The Mirror Test will teach readers through entertaining and timely anecdotes how to thoughtfully yet aggressively evaluate deconstruct and then reconstruct one's business In his unique confrontational manner Hayzlett will coach small business owners and managers on topics such as Give your business the mirror test is your company really breathing Here's how you and your company must adapt or die The bottom line of your business really is your bottom line You have to focus on it Sing a Battle Song Bill and faith can be alarming Recent studies show that 40 50 percent of kids who are connected to a youth group throughout their senior year will fail to stick with their faith in college As youth workers are pouring their time and energy into the students in their ministries they are often left wondering if they've done enough to equip their students to carry their faith into adulthood Fuller Youth Institute has done extensive research in the area of youth ministry and teenage development In Sticky Faith the team at FYI presents youth workers with both a theological philosophical framework and practical programming ideas that develop long term faith in teenagers Each chapter presents a summary of FYI's quantitative and qualitative research along with the implications of this research including program ideas suggested and tested by youth ministries nationwide This resource will give youth pastors what they need to help foster a faith that sticks with all the teenagers in their group long after they've left the youth room

Sticky Learning Holly J. Inglis, 2014-11-01 Despite the introduction of new technologies for classrooms many seminary courses still utilize primarily auditory methods to convey content Course outcomes may include opportunities for learners to demonstrate knowledge and skills gained but may not include opportunities for learners to begin to embed knowledge and skills into their long term memory Educators are engaging with neuroscientists to reshape classroom practices content delivery curriculum design and physical classroom spaces to enhance students learning and memory primarily in elementary and secondary education Why not in seminary education An overview of how learning occurs in our brain what the different types of memory are and how memory is created serves as a framework for suggesting pedagogical tools These brain friendly tools are specifically applied to individual academic disciplines enabling instructors to make concrete modifications in the structure and content of what is taught making learning more sticky Inglis's synopsis of the use of neuroscience in the classroom and suggested action is followed by a collaborative dialogue with Kathy L Dawson and Rodger Y Nishioka Dawson and Nishioka provide practical commentary regarding the successful implementation of Inglis's proposed approach As a group Inglis Dawson and Nishioka create a text that extends pedagogical innovation in inspiring but practical ways
