War and Worship Susan Möller-Wiering, 2011-08-30 War and Worship concerns textile deposits from the bog sites of Thorsberg in Germany and Nydam Vimose and Illerup dal in Denmark All four sites are well known for containing a substantial amount of archaeological materials particularly weapons but they also contain as integral parts of the weapon deposits a smaller number of preserved textiles which nevertheless constitute outstanding assemblages With the exception of Thorsberg publications dealing particularly with textiles from weapon deposits are almost non existent The textiles from each site are analysed then compared to one another and described as a unit characterising the particular site Comparisons are then made between the four sites with emphasis on the overall context A final chapter by Lise R der Knudsen analyses tablet woven textiles in the deposits a textile technique used to make bands edges and borders Although the state of preservation of the textiles at the different locations varies hugely the research has extracted a large amount of information allowing conclusions on status origin function and role in the deposits to be drawn The fabrics presented here were unquestionably consecrated textiles They had been worn by the defeated foreign warriors during the battle and were considered worthy as sacrificial offerings to the gods Some individual high status textiles were perceived to have a value comparable to certain metal items Others probably the majority were used for covering and wrapping other offerings for the subsequent sacrifice All were committed to the lakes in a sacred act of remembrance to celebrate victorious battles Ancient Scandinavia T. Bodies in the Bog and the Archaeological Imagination Karin Sanders, 2009-12 Over the past few centuries northern Europe's bogs have yielded mummified men women and children who were deposited there as sacrifices in the early Iron Age and kept startlingly intact by the chemical properties of peat In this remarkable account of their modern afterlives Karin Sanders argues that the discovery of bog bodies began an extraordinary and ongoing cultural journey Throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Sanders shows these eerily preserved remains came alive in art and science as material metaphors for such concepts as trauma nostalgia and identity Sigmund Freud Joseph Beuys Seamus Heaney and other major figures have used them to reconsider fundamental philosophical literary aesthetic and scientific concerns Exploring this intellectual spectrum Sanders contends that the power of bog bodies to provoke such a wide range of responses is rooted in their unique status as both archaeological artifacts and human beings They emerge as corporeal time capsules that transcend archaeology to challenge our assumptions about what we can know about the past By restoring them to the roster of cultural phenomena that force us to confront our ethical and aesthetic boundaries Bodies in the Bog excavates anew the question of what it means to be human

Museums of the World ,2002 European Mail Armour Martijn A. Wijnhoven,2025-10-01 Mail armour commonly mislabelled chainmail was used for more than two millennia on the battlefield After its invention in the Iron Age mail rapidly spread all over Europe and beyond The Roman army keen on new military technology soon adopted mail armour and used it successfully for centuries Its history did not stop there and mail played a vital role in warfare during the Middle Ages up to the Early Modern Period Given its long history one would think mail is a well documented material but that is not the case For the first time this book lays a solid foundation for the understanding of mail armour and its context through time It applies a long term multi dimensional approach to extract a wealth of as yet untapped information from archaeological iconographic and written sources This is complemented with technical insights on the mail maker s cha ne op ratoire

Under the Sea: Archaeology and Palaeolandscapes of the Continental Shelf Geoffrey N. Bailey,Jan Harff,Dimitris Sakellariou,2017-05-16 This book focuses on issues of method and interpretation in studies of submerged landscapes concentrating on illustrations and case studies from around Europe with additional examples from other parts of the world Such landscapes were once exposed as dry land during the low sea levels that prevailed during the glacial periods that occupied most of the past million years and provided extensive new territories for human exploitation Their study today involves underwater investigation using techniques and strategies which are clearly set out in these chapters The underwater landscape provides a rich source of information about the archaeology of human settlement and long term changes in environment climate and sea level This book highlights how such information can be revealed and interpreted The examples presented here and the focus on techniques make this book of worldwide relevance Chapters describe examples of underwater archaeological investigation as well as collaboration with offshore industries and legal management and training issues relating to underwater cultural heritage Such studies point to the significance of this drowned landscape and readers are invited to consider its human impact in terms of past settlement and population dispersal through palaeolandscape reconstruction and interpretation in relation to broader themes in human prehistory This volume is based on work from COST Action SPLASHCOS a four year multi disciplinary and multi national research program supported by COST European Cooperation in Science and Technology and has something to benefit all those with an interest in the sea floor of the continental shelf and the archaeological and social impact of sea level change including archaeologists marine scientists geographers cultural heritage managers commercial and governmental organisations policy makers and interested members of the public

Women and Weapons in the Viking World Leszek Gardela, 2021-09-02 Invigorating Garde reappraises the connections between women and violence in an early medieval society that has left few texts to guide us Studies in Late Antiquity This book sets out to investigate the idea of the armed woman in the Viking Age through a comprehensive and cross cultural approach and weaves a nuanced picture of women's lives in the Viking world The Viking Age c AD 750 1050 is conventionally portrayed as a tumultuous time when hordes of fierce warriors from Scandinavia wreaked havoc across the European continent and when Norse merchants traveled to distant corners of the world in pursuit of slaves silver and exotic commodities Until fairly recently Norse society during this pivotal period in world history has been characterized as male dominated with women's roles dismissed or substantially downplayed There is however ample textual and archaeological evidence to suggest that many of the most spectacular achievements of Viking Age Scandinavians in craftsmanship exploration cross cultural trade warfare and other spheres of life would not have been possible without the active involvement of women and that both within the walls of the household and in the wider public arena women's voices were heard respected and followed Lavishly illustrated this pioneering book explores the stories of the female warrior and women's links with the martial sphere of life in the Viking Age using literature and archaeological evidence from Scandinavia and the wider Viking world to examine the motivations and circumstances that led women to engage in armed conflict

Making Marvels Wolfram Koeppe, Noam Andrews, Florian Thaddäus Bayer, Jens Ludwig Burk, Wolfram Dolz, Ana Matisse Donefer-Hickie, Karsten Gaulke, Michael Korey, Lothar Lambacher, Peter Plassmeyer, Paulus Rainer, Antje Scherner, Konrad

Schlegel, Pamela H. Smith, Dirk Syndram, 2019-11-25 Featuring more than 150 treasures from several of the world's most prestigious collections Making Marvels explores the vital intersection of art, technology and political power at the courts of early modern Europe. It was there from the sixteenth through eighteenth centuries that a remarkable outpouring of creativity and learning gave rise to exquisite objects that were at once beautiful works of art and technological wonders. By amassing vast glittering collections of these ingeniously crafted objects, princes flaunted their wealth and competed for mastery over the known world. More than mere status symbols, however, many of these marvels ushered in significant advancements that have had a lasting influence on astronomy, engineering and even international politics. Incisive texts by leading scholars situate these works within the rich, complex symbolism of life at court where science and splendor were pursued with equal vigor and together contributed to a culture of magnificence.

Auf Raub und Plünderung der deutschen Wehrmacht in der UdSSR folgte Ende des Zweiten Weltkrieges der Abtransport deutscher Kulturgüter in die Sowjetunion. Dafür waren mehrere Gruppen unterschiedlicher Sowjetinstitutionen im Einsatz, die Hauptrolle kam den Trophäenbrigaden des Kunstkomitees zu. Der vorliegende Band beleuchtet die handelnden Akteure und stellt die Orte und Wege der Verlagerung vor. Im Zentrum stehen dabei die verlagerten Objekte, deren Schicksal anhand der Transportbeschlüsse und Verteilungslisten der sowjetischen Trophäenbrigaden in den Jahren 1945 bis 1947 nachgezeichnet wird. Die Recherchen zeigen, dass jedes Werk seine eigene spannende Verlustgeschichte hat. Zehntausende von Kulturgütern konnten identifiziert sowie die innerdeutsche Rückkehr von bedeutenden Kunstwerken in ihre Ursprungssammlungen ermöglicht werden. Mit diesem Band liegt erstmals eine Gesamtdarstellung der Kriegsverluste deutscher Museen vor.

Connected by the Sea Lucy Blue, Frederick M. Hocker, Anton Englert, 2016-03-31 The 10th International Symposium on Boat and Ship Archaeology was held in Roskilde, Denmark, in 2003. The theme of the meeting was Connected by the Sea and was designed to emphasize the role of the sea, seafaring and watercraft as bridges rather than barriers. Maritime archaeology tends to take place within national borders with a national focus, yet the very premise of seafaring is the desire to travel beyond the horizon to establish contact with other places and cultures. The conference theme was chosen to encourage the maritime archaeological community to think in international terms.

An Archaeology of Images Miranda Aldhouse Green, 2004-08-02 Using archaeology and social anthropology and more than 100 original line drawings and photographs, An Archaeology of Images takes a fresh look at how ancient images of both people and animals were used in the Iron Age and Roman societies of Europe, 600 BC to AD 400, and investigates the various meanings with which images may have been imbued. The book challenges the usual interpretation of statues, reliefs and figurines as passive things to be looked at or worshipped and reveals them instead as active artefacts designed to be used, handled and broken. It is made clear that the placing of images in temples or graves may not have been the only episode in their biographies and a single image may have gone through several existences before its working life was over. Miranda Aldhouse Green examines a wide range of other issues from gender and identity to foreignness enmity and captivity as well as the significance of the materials used to make the images The result is a comprehensive survey of the multifarious functions and experiences of images in the communities that produced and consumed them Challenging many previously held assumptions about the meaning and significance of Celtic and Roman art An Archaeology of Images will be controversial yet essential reading for anyone interested in this area
