Still The Museum:

Still, the Museum Museum Boymans- van Beuningen. Rotterdam, Annette W. Balkema, Still Foundation, 1996 András Szántó. Imagining the Future Museum András Szántó, 2023-05-15

Following on the widely read The Future of the Museum 28 Dialogues which explored how museums are changing through conversations with today's generation of museum directors New York based author and cultural strategy advisor András Szántó's new compilation turns its attention to architects. The conclusion of The Future of the Museum was that the software of art museums has evolved. Museum leaders are working to make institutions more open, inclusive, experiential, culturally polyphonic, technologically savvy, attuned to the needs of their communities and engaged in the defining issues of our time. It follows that the hardware of the art museum must also change. Conversations with a carefully selected group of architects survey current thinking in the field, engaging not only architects who have built some of the world's most iconic institutions but also members of an emerging global generation that is destined to leave its mark on the museum of the future.

The Multisensory Museum Nina Levent, Alvaro Pascual-Leone, 2014-03-06

Recent research in the cognitive sciences gives us a new perspective on the cognitive and sensory landscape. In The Multisensory Museum: Cross Disciplinary Perspectives on Touch, Sound, Smell, Memory and Space, museum expert Nina Levent and Alvaro Pascual Leone, professor of neurology at Harvard Medical School, bring together scholars and museum practitioners from around the world to highlight new trends and untapped opportunities for using such modalities as scent, sound and touch in museums to offer more immersive experiences and diverse sensory engagement for visually and otherwise impaired patrons. Visitor studies describe how different personal and group identities color our cultural consumption and might serve as a compass on museum journeys. Psychologists and educators look at the creation of memories through different types of sensory engagement with objects and how these memories in turn affect our next cultural experience. An anthropological perspective on the history of our multisensory engagement with ritual and art objects especially in cultures that did not privilege sight over other senses allows us a glimpse of what museums might become in the future Education researchers discover museums as unique educational playgrounds that allow for a variety of learning styles active and passive exploration and participatory learning Designers and architects suggest a framework for thinking about design solutions for a museum environment that invites an intuitive multisensory and flexible exploration as well as minimizes physical hurdles While attention has been paid to accessibility for the physically impaired since passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act making buildings accessible is only the first small step in elevating museums to be centers of learning and culture for all members of their communities This landmark book will help all museums go much further Catalogue of the Museum of Archaeology at Sārṇāth Museum of Archaeology at Sārṇāth,Daya Ram Sahni,1914 The Holocaust Memorial Museum Avril Alba,2015-10-06 The Holocaust Memorial Museum reveals and traces the transformation of ancient Jewish symbols rituals archetypes and narratives deployed in these sites Demonstrating how cloaking the secular history of the Holocaust in sacred garb memorial museums generate redemptive yet conflicting visions of the meaning and utility of Holocaust memory
