Maritime Trade and State Development in Early Southeast Asia Kenneth R. Hall, 2019-03-31 This book brings something new in both dimension and detail to our understanding of Southeast Asia from the first to the fourteenth centuries It puts Southeast Asia in the context of the international trade that stretched from Rome to China and draws upon a wide range of recent scholarship in history and the social sciences to redefine the role that this trade played in the evolution of the classical states of Southeast Asia By examining the sources of Southeast Asia's classical era with the tools of modern economic history the author shows that well developed socioeconomic and political networks existed in Southeast Asia before significant foreign economic penetration took place With the growth of interest in Southeast Asian commodities and the refocusing of the major East West commercial routes through the region during the early centuries of the Christian era internal conditions within Southeast Asia adjusted to accommodate increased external contacts Hall takes the view that Southeast Asia's response to international trade was a reflection of preexisting patterns of trade and statecraft In the forty years since Coede's monumental work The Indianized States of Southeast Asia was published a great deal of archaeological and epigraphical work has been done and new interpretations advanced By integrating new theoretical constructs recent archaeological finds and interpretations and his own informed reading and research Kenneth R Hall puts his historical narrative on a large canvas and treats areas not previously brought together for discussion along comparative lines Like Coede's work his book will be important as a basic text for the teaching of early Southeast Asian history

Land and Temple Benjamin D. Gordon, 2020-04-06 This exploration of the Judean priesthood's role in agricultural cultivation demonstrates that the institutional reach of Second Temple Judaism 516 BCE 70 CE went far beyond the confines of its houses of worship while exposing an unfamiliar aspect of sacred place making in the ancient Jewish experience Temples of the ancient world regularly held assets in land often naming a patron deity as landowner and affording the land sanctity protections Such arrangements can provide essential background to the Hebrew Bible's assertion that God is the owner of the land of Israel They can also shed light on references in early Jewish literature to the sacred landholdings of the priesthood or the temple

The Economy of Ancient Egypt Mahmoud Ezzamel, 2024-08-21 Taking ancient records as the starting point for analysis this book theorises the state administration and economy of ancient Egypt The Egyptian state is theorised as an administrative field of material and symbolic powers with emphasis upon the latter because it has received scant attention in Egyptology Maat truth fairness connective justice is theorised as symbolic power discursively authored disseminated and monitored by senior administrators who redefined its meaning to suit changes in the sociopolitical contexts The book examines the classification schemes of the Egyptian population devised by the administrative field of power and how they were used to differentiate hierarchise and fix specific individuals within clearly demarcated social and economic categories that aimed to fix the subjectivity of those assigned to each category Ancient Egyptian had a significant state economic sector and a private sector A multiplicity of sources of state economic resources are examined taxation impost war booty and tributes and gifts exchanged between the Egyptian kings and foreign kings A nuanced understanding of Polanyi's work on redistribution is used to theorise the cycle of levying collecting storing and redistributing tax revenues Exchanges of gifts between Egyptian kings and kings from Asia Minor are theorised as occurring on a stage of institutional drama war booty as an economy of force and tribute as an economy of restitution Private exchange is theorised by developing the concept of sociable markets and drawing on Maat in its various meanings as truth fairness and connective justice This book will be of interest to readers in the fields of economic history ancient Egypt and ancient history more broadly

Markets and Exchanges in Pre-Modern and Traditional Societies Juan Carlos Moreno Garcia, 2021-06-30 Markets emerge in recent historical research as important spheres of economic interaction in ancient societies In the case of ancient Egypt traditional models imagined an all encompassing centralized bureaucratic economy that left practically no place for market transactions as many surviving documents only described the activities of the royal palace and of huge institutions mainly temples Yet scattered references in the sources reveal that markets and traders were crucial actors in the economic life of ancient Egypt In this perspective this volume aims to discuss the role of markets traders and economic interaction not necessarily organized through markets and the use of money metals valuable commodities in pre modern societies based on archaeological anthropological and historical evidence Furthermore it intends to integrate different perspectives about the social organization of transactions and exchanges and the different forms taken by markets from meeting places where exchanges operated under ritualized procedures and conventions to markets in which profit seeking activities were marginal in respect with other practices that stressed on the contrary community collaboration The book also deals with social forms of pre modern exchanges in which trust and ethnic solidarity guaranteed the validity of commercial operations in the absence of formal codes of laws or accepted authorities over long distances trade diasporas guilds etc Finally the volume analyzes a critical aspect of small scale trade and markets such as the commercialization of agricultural household production and its impact on the peasant economic strategies In all the book covers a diversity of topics in which recent research in the fields of economic sociology archaeology anthropology economics and history proves invaluable in order to analyze the role of Egyptian trade in a broader perspective as well as to suggest new venues of comparative research theoretical reflection and dialogue between Egyptology and social sciences

Prosperity, Region, and Institutions in Maritime China Billy K.L. So, 2020-03-23 Prosperity signifies success in economic performance Economic performance always takes place in a spatial context And institutions matter in economic performance These three interwoven themes underlie this inquiry into the regional economy of southern Fukien province during the Sung and Yuan dynasties when the area was one of the most prosperous regions in China Through a meticulous reading of the sources the author seeks to understand the meaning of prosperity in the premodern Chinese context and argues that we have to understand economic performance as a process occurring in space and influenced by institutions which affect economic actors particularly through the means of transaction costs

cradles of civilization The Zhou dynasty 1046 256 BC supplanted the Shang and introduced the concept of the Mandate of Heaven to justify their rule The central Zhou government began to weaken due to external and internal pressures in the 8th century BC and the country eventually splintered into smaller states during the Spring and Autumn period These states became independent and warred with one another in the following Warring States period Much of traditional Chinese culture literature and philosophy first developed during those troubled times In 221 BC Qin Shi Huang conquered the various warring states and created for himself the title of Huangdi or emperor of the Qin marking the beginning of imperial China However the oppressive government fell soon after his death and was supplanted by the longer lived Han dynasty 206 BC 220 AD Successive dynasties developed bureaucratic systems that enabled the emperor to control vast territories directly In the 21 centuries from 206 BC until AD 1912 routine administrative tasks were handled by a special elite of scholar officials Young men well versed in calligraphy history literature and philosophy were carefully selected through difficult government examinations China's last dynasty was the Qing 1644 1912 which was replaced by the Republic of China in 1912 and in the mainland by the People's Republic of China in 1949 Chinese history has alternated between periods of political unity and peace and periods of war and failed statehood the most recent being the Chinese Civil War 1927 1949 China was occasionally dominated by steppe peoples most of whom were eventually assimilated into the Han Chinese culture and population Between eras of multiple kingdoms and warlordism Chinese dynasties have ruled parts or all of China in some eras control stretched as far as Xinjiang and Tibet as at present Traditional culture and influences from other parts of Asia and the Western world carried by waves of immigration cultural assimilation expansion and foreign contact form the basis of the modern culture of China

The Temple Edition of the Comédie Humaine Honoré de Balzac, 1901 Economy of Religions in Anatolia and Northern Syria Manfred Hutter, Sylvia Hutter-Braunsar, 2019-10-01 Religions are always costly one has to give offerings with material value to the gods one has to provide the salary for religious specialists who offer their service for their clients one has to arrange festivals and liturgies and of course one has to provide the material means for building temples or shrines But these costs also repay as the gods give health or well being as reward for the offerings Even if one can never be absolutely certain about such a reward one at least might earn social reputation because of one's financial involvement in religion But temples are also economic centres employing often in close relation to the palace people as workers craftsmen or intellectuals in different positions whose costs of living are supplied by the temple Individual religious specialists receive payment for their service to cover their own costs of living Although this might sound modern religion and economy were intertwined with each other in ancient society also For this reason the papers of this conference volume analyse and discuss how the cults rituals and institutions in Anatolia in the 2nd and 1st millennium contribute to the economic process in those areas
