Ten Contemporaries Notes Toward Their De:

The Pilgrimage of Dorothy Richardson Joanne Winning, 2000 Pilgrimage Dorothy Richardson's thirteen volume opus of autobiographical fiction follows the entire arc of an independent woman's life in early twentieth century Britain. It is one of the major works of the modernist period; indeed, it is considered by many a classic of modernist literature. In this book, Joanne Winning argues in this book, however, that Richardson's novels continue to be misunderstood in several important ways. Winning is the first critic to fully explore the issues of lesbian identity in the novels. Examining primary materials, manuscript drafts, and Richardson's previously unstudied correspondence, Winning demonstrates that Pilgrimage contains a carefully constructed though concealed subtext of lesbian desire and sexuality. The Pilgrimage of Dorothy Richardson explores the ways in which Richardson used such cultural forms as sexology, psychoanalysis, and other lesbian and modernist literature of her time to create an intertextual dialogue about lesbian identity. Winning suggests that a sustained reading of lesbian sexuality in Pilgrimage is crucial to a more complete understanding of Richardson's long and sometimes difficult work. Winning also places Pilgrimage in the context of other works by female modernist writers that record lesbian identity. This approach, Winning suggests, is the first step toward recognizing and defining a literary movement that can be termed lesbian modernism, as well as toward a deeper understanding of how lesbian modernist writers helped shape modernist literature as a whole.

The Shape of Fear Susan Jennifer Navarette, 2014-07-11 During the last decades of the nineteenth century, Charles Darwin, Thomas Henry Huxley, Walter Pater, and others changed the nature of thought concerning the human body and the physical environment that had shaped it. In response, the 1890s saw the publication of a series of remarkable literary works that had their genesis in the intense scientific and aesthetic activity of those preceding decades: texts that emphasized themes of degeneration and were themselves stylistically decompositive with language both a surrogate for physical deformity and a source of anxiety. Susan J. Navarette examines the ways in which scientific and cultural concerns of late nineteenth century England are coded in the horror literature of the period. By contextualizing the structural, stylistic, and thematic systems developed by writers seeking to reenact textually the entropic forces they perceived in the natural world, Navarette reconstructs the late Victorian mentality. She analyzes aesthetic responses to trends in contemporary science and explores horror writers' use of scientific methodologies to support their perception that a long-awaited period of cultural decline had begun. In her analysis of the classics Turn of the Screw and Heart of Darkness, Navarette shows how James and Conrad made artistic use of earlier scientific readings of the body. She also considers works by lesser-known authors: Walter de la Mare, Vernon Lee, and Arthur Machen, who produced fin de siècle stories that took the form of hybrid literary monstrosities. To underscore the fascination with bodily decay and deformation that these writers explored, The Shape of Fear is enhanced with prints and line drawings by Victor Hugo, James Ensor, and other artists of the day. This elegantly written book formulates a new canon of late Victorian fiction that will intrigue scholars of literature and cultural history. New

The Figure of the Animal in Modern and Contemporary Poetry Michael Malay,2018-06-05 This book argues that there are deep connections between poetic thinking and the sensitive recognition of creaturely others It explores this proposition in relation to four poets Marianne Moore Elizabeth Bishop Ted Hughes and Les Murray Through a series of close readings and by paying close attention to issues of sound rhythm simile metaphor and image it explores how poetry cultivates a special openness towards animal others The thinking behind this book is inspired by J M Coetzee s The Lives of Animals In particular it takes up that book s suggestion that poetry invites us to relate to animals in an open ended and sympathetic manner Poets according to Elizabeth Costello the book s protagonist return the living electric being to language and doing so compel us to open our hearts towards animals and the claims they make upon us There are special affinities for her between the music of poetry and the recognition of others But what might it mean to say that poets to return life to language And why might this have any bearing on our relationship with animals Beyond offering many suggestive starting points Elizabeth Costello says very little about the nature of poetry's special relationship with the animal one aim of this study then is to ask of what this relationship consists not least by examining the various ways poets have bodied forth animals in language Short Story Paul March-Russell, 2009-05-15 This new general introduction emphasises the importance of the short story to an understanding of modern fiction In twenty succinct chapters the study paints a complete portrait of the short story its history culture aesthetics and economics European innovators such as Chekhov Flaubert and Kafka are compared to Irish New Zealand and British practitioners such as Joyce Mansfield and Carter as well as writers in the American tradition from Hawthorne and Poe to Barthelme and Carver Fresh attention is paid to experimental postcolonial and popular fiction alongside developments in Anglo American Hispanic and European literature Critical approaches to the short story are debated and reassessed while discussion of the short story is related to contemporary critical theory In what promises to be essential reading for students and academics the study sets out to prove that the short story remains vital to the emerging culture of the twenty first century *Contemporary Pragmatism.
