Fictions of Integration Naomi Lesley, 2017-03-03 This book examines how children's and young adult literature addresses and interrogates the legacies of American school desegregation Such literature narrates not only the famous battles to implement desegregation in the South in places like Little Rock Arkansas but also more insidious and less visible legacies such as re-segregation within schools through the mechanism of disability diagnosis Novelizations of children's experiences with school desegregation comment upon the politics of getting African American children access to white schools but more than this as school stories they also comment upon how structural racism operates in the classroom and mutates over the course of decades through the pedagogical practices depicted in literature for young readers Lesley combines approaches from critical race theory disability studies and educational philosophy in order to investigate how the educational market simultaneously constrains how racism in schools can be presented to young readers and also provides channels for radical critiques of pedagogy and visions of alternative systems The volume examines a range of titles from novels that directly engage the Brown v Board of Education decision such as Sharon Draper's Fire From the Rock and Dorothy Sterling's Mary Jane to novels that engage less obvious legacies of desegregation such as Cynthia Voigt's Dacey's Song Sharon Flake's Pinned Virginia Hamilton's The Planet of Junior Brown and Louis Sachar's Holes This book will be of interest to scholars of American studies children's literature and educational philosophy and history

The Heart and the Island Chiara Mazzucchelli, 2015-08-04 In The Heart and the Island Chiara Mazzucchelli explores the strong bond between Sicilian American writers and the island of Sicily Self contained yet connected to the mainland geographically separated from yet politically united to the rest of Italy Sicily occupies a unique position Throughout the twentieth century the sense of a distinct siciliani or Sicilianness has manifested itself in a corpus of texts that although subsumed under the broader context of Italian literature have distinguished themselves as examples of an exquisitely Sicilian literary experience Mazzucchelli argues that a parallel phenomenon siciliani-americanit has emerged in the United States Focusing on the island's geography history and culture she examines how many American authors of Sicilian descent derive inspiration from their ethnic milieu and lay out a recognizable set of Sicilian culture markers in their works thereby producing a literature that is distinctly Sicilian American Drawing on both Italian and Italian American scholarship The Heart and the Island is the first full length study of Sicilian American literature and it opens a space for new interdisciplinary discussions on what it means to be Italian on both sides of the ocean
