Gesture in Embodied Communication and Human Computer Interaction Stefan Kopp, Ipke Wachsmuth, 2010-04-20 The International Gesture Workshops GW are interdisciplinary events for those researching gesture based communication across the disciplines The focus of these events is a shared interest in understanding gestures and sign language in their many facets and using them for advancing human machine interaction Since 1996 International Gesture Workshops have been held roughly every second year with fully reviewed proceedings published by Springer The International Gesture Workshop GW 2009 was hosted by Bielefeld University's Center for Interdisciplinary Research ZiF Zentrum für interdisziplinäre Forschung during February 25-27 2009 Like its predecessors GW 2009 aimed to provide a platform for participants to share discuss and criticize recent and novel research with a multidisciplinary audience More than 70 computer scientists linguistics psychologists neuroscientists as well as dance and music scientists from 16 countries met to present and exchange their newest results under the umbrella theme Gesture in Embodied Communication and Human Computer Interaction Consistent with the steady growth of research activity in this area a large number of high quality submissions were received which made GW 2009 an exciting and important event for anyone interested in gesture related technological research relevant to human computer interaction In line with the practice of previous gesture workshops presenters were invited to submit their papers for publication in a subsequent peer reviewed publication of high quality The present book is the outcome of this effort Representing the research work from eight countries it contains a selection of 28 thoroughly reviewed articles Communication and Group Decision Making Randy Y. Hirokawa, Marshall Scott Poole, 1996-07-09 Communication and Group Decision Making takes stock of recent group communication research with an explicit focus on communication processes This book is recommended for academics professionals and researchers in communication and organization

Singular Texts/plural Authors Lisa S. Ede, Andrea A. Lunsford, 1992 Why write together the authors ask They answer that question here in the first book to combine theoretical and historical explorations with actual research on collaborative and group writing Lisa Ede and Andrea Lunsford challenge the assumption that writing is a solitary act That challenge is grounded in their own personal experience as long term collaborators and in their extensive research including a three stage study of collaborative writing supported by the Fund for the Improvement of Post Secondary Education The authors urge a fundamental change in our institutions to accommodate collaboration by radically resituating power in the classroom and by instituting rewards for collaborative work that equal rewards for single authored work They conclude with the injunction Today and in the twenty first century our data suggest writers must be able to work together They must in short be able to collaborate New Directions in Group Communication Lawrence R. Frey, 2002 New Directions in Group Communication takes as its mission the setting of the agenda for the study of group communication in the future It does so by presenting work that scholars have not previously explored in the current small group communication literature Part I focuses on new theoretical and conceptual directions both presenting new views and extending current positions Part II examines new research methodologies while Part III looks at antecedent factors affecting group communication Parts IV and V of the text provide insight into both group communication process and practices Part VI covers different group communication contexts including communication patterns in top management teams The Handbook of Group Communication Theory and Research Lawrence R. Frey, Dennis Gouran, Marshall Scott Poole, 1999-07-08 The Handbook of Group Communication Theory and Research establishes a central resource for the field documenting and synthesizing the work done in group communication s 50 year history With contributions from the most experienced and respected scholars in the field the editors Lawrence R Frey Dennis S Gouran and Marshall Scott Poole present an overview of group communication study and examine a variety of theoretical positions and methodological practices The volume is divided into six broad areas of communication scholarship Foundations of group communication theory and research Individuals and group communication Task and relational group communication Group communication processes Group communication facilitation Group communication contexts and applications The sections serve as a crossroads where various paths pursued in each area meet summarize and suggest new maps and roads that need to be followed in the future Offering a comprehensive history of group communication theory and research and establishing new conceptual perspectives and research agendas for future group communication scholars this important resource will be an unrivalled tool for scholars researchers educators practitioners and students alike

Focused Interview Robert K. Merton, 2008-06-30 A reissue of the classic report of Columbia's Bureau of Applied Social Research outlining techniques for eliciting specific responses of individuals and groups to particular events and situations. The 1956 edition of this book may be regarded as seminal within sociology, spawning a whole field of qualitative opinion research that has continued to evolve through half a century of inquiry. This is a reissue of the book with a new preface by Merton, a select bibliography of writings on the focused interview and focus group research, and a new introduction that traces the diffusion of Merton's technique from sociology to other fields including history, psychology, mass media, and marketing research. Group Communication in Context Lawrence R. Frey, 2005-05-18 The study of group communication has never been more critical as recent national and international events point to the fragility of group life. An emerging perspective, the bona fide group perspective, offers hope for improving group communication for it recognizes that any group—a family, community group, expedition team, social support group, organizational work group, interorganizational collaboration, or international team—must be studied and understood within the multiple contexts in which it is embedded and that significantly affects who is considered to be part of a group, what occurs within that group, and how that group interacts with other groups. In the second edition of his award-winning volume, editor Lawrence R. Frey showcases original research studies conducted on and about communication in bona fide groups, demonstrating the conceptual promise of the bona fide group perspective as realized in research practice. Divided into six sections, the chapters cover a wide range of new or relatively understudied groups, including youth, community, Internet support, climbing, expedition, and family groups; neighborhoods and school boards; and demonstrate the wealth of methodological approaches that can be used to study bona fide group communication, including survey methods, interviews, textual analysis, content analysis, participant observation, and discourse analysis. Group Communication in Context: Studies of Bona Fide Groups, Second Edition shows that the bona fide group perspective has the power to transform our thinking about groups and group communication and, in time, the practices in which groups and group members engage. The volume is intended for use in group communication courses as well as a reference for group scholars. It is also appropriate for classes in psychology, social work, counseling, sociology, anthropology, and related disciplines. Intelligent Tutoring Systems Vincent Aleven, Judy Kay, Jack Mostow, 2010-06-01 The 10th International Conference on Intelligent Tutoring Systems (ITS 2010) continued the bi-annual series of top-flight international conferences on the use of advanced educational technologies that are adaptive to users or groups of users. These highly interdisciplinary conferences bring together researchers in the learning sciences, computer science, cognitive or educational psychology, cognitive science, artificial intelligence, machine learning, and linguistics. The theme of the ITS 2010 conference was Bridges to Learning, a theme that connects the scientific content of the conference and the geography of Pittsburgh, the host city. The conference addressed the use of advanced technologies as bridges for learners and facilitators of robust learning outcomes We received a total of 186 submissions from 26 countries on 5 continents Australia Brazil Canada China Estonia France Georgia Germany Greece India Italy Japan Korea Mexico The Netherlands New Zealand Pakistan Philippines Saudi Arabia Singapore Slovakia Spain Thailand Turkey the UK and USA We accepted 61 full papers 38% and 58 short papers The diversity of the field is reflected in the range of topics represented by the papers submitted selected by the authors

An Integrated Approach to Communication Theory and Research Don W. Stacks, Michael B. Salwen, 2014-04-08 This volume provides an overview of communication study offering theoretical coverage of the broad scope of communication study as well as integrating theory with research To explicate the integration process the chapter contributors experts in their respective areas offer samples in the form of hypothetical studies published studies or unpublished research showing how theory and research are integrated in their particular fields The book will appeal to graduate students and faculty members who want a thorough overview of not only the field but also sample research stemming from its various component parts
