Along the Mirror's Edge Anthony Stones, 2014-07-16 Along The Mirror's Edge is the result of almost fifty years of my urge to capture in verse various phases of my life and my feelings about those experiences Where that need comes from is a mystery to me but the words on the page and the memories and moments they evoke for me have been and continue to be a source of great comfort and enjoyment Now I offer my poems to share and hope that perhaps others can relate to some of the images there

Transnational Discourses on Class, Gender, and Cultural Identity Irene Marques, 2012-01-16 This exploration of class feminism and cultural identity including issues of race nation colonialism and economic imperialism focuses on the work of four writers the Mozambican Mia Couto the Portuguese Jos Saramago the Brazilian Clarice Lispector and the South African J M Coetzee In the first section the author discusses the political aspects of Couto's collection of short stories Contos do nascer da terra Stories of the Birth of the Land and Saramago's novel O ano da morte de Ricardo Reis The Year of the Death of Ricardo Reis The second section explores similar themes in Coetzee's Life and Times of Michael K and Lispector's A hora da estrela The Hour of the Star Marques argues that these four writers are political in the sense that they bring to the forefront issues pertaining to the power of literature to represent misrepresent and debate matter related to different subaltern subjects the postcolonial subject the poor subject the poor other and the female subject She also discusses the ahuman other in the context of the subjectivity of the natural world the dead and the unborn and shows how these aspects are present in all the different societies addressed and point to the mystical dimension that permeates most societies With regard to Couto's work this ahuman other is approached mostly through a discussion of the holistic animist values and epistemologies that inform and guide Mozambican traditional societies while in further analyses the notion is approached via discussions on phenomenology elementality and divinity following the philosophies of Levinas and Irigaray and mystical consciousness in Zen Buddhism and the psychology of Jung Genetic Psychology Monographs Carl Murchison, 1929
