SCOTLAND'S POET.

The Anniversary Banquet of Bobbie Burns a Great Success.

Last evening at the San Felipe hotel the 133d anniversary of Scotland's greatest poet, Robert Burns, was celebrated in a manner becoming the occasion, and about seventy-five guests were present to join hands with the native Scotchmen in honoring his deeds and revering his sacred memory. By the committee who had arranged the interesting program, Gov. Stever was chosen to preside, and when those present had entered the spacious dining room of the hotel and had taken seats, the governor asked Donald McLean (he meant Kenneth McLean) to say grace. The gentleman delivered himself of the following appropriate stanza:

"Some has meat and cannot eat,
And some we'd eat that want it—
But we here must eat we can get,
So let the Lord be thanked."

For at least an hour the joyous assemblage participated in a much desired part of the program—eating, and the dinner repeat, first started by singing two more popular and favored airs.

The toast "Scotch Literature" by Dr. W. G. Hope, and "America as the True Exponent of Brotherhood as Illustrated by Burns," by G. W. Greenwood, were delivered in clear voices and received applause.

A. Cameron, an old Scotchman, was pressed into service and sang a humorous Scotch song.

"An American's Opinion of Burns," which was assigned to E. W. Spencer, was taken by G. W. Meylert in the absence of the former gentleman, and Mr. Meylert did himself credit.

"The Last Rose of Summer," was played on the flute by Dr. Macbeth, accompanied by Page Otero on the guitar, and after a few more songs and short speeches the 133d anniversary of Bobbie Burns, the greatest poet Scotland ever produced, came to a

Dewei Wang, 1997 The reigning view of literary historians has been that the May Fourth movement of 1919 marks the division between the traditional and the modern in Chinese literature This book argues that signs of reform and innovation can be discerned long before May Fourth and that as China entered the arena of modern international history in the late Qing it was already developing its own complex matrix of incipient modernities It demonstrates that late Qing fiction nurtured a creative innovative poetics one that was spurned by the reformers of the May Fourth generation in favor of Western style realism The author recognizes that a full account of modern Chinese fiction needs to ask why so many genres styles themes and figures found in late imperial fiction were repressed by modern Chinese literary discourse He focuses on four genres of late Qing fiction that have been either rudely dismissed in pejorative terms or simply ignored depravity romances court case and chivalric cycles grotesque exposés and scientific fantasies The author shows that in spite of the realist orthodoxy that has dominated Chinese literature since the May Fourth movement these unwelcome genres have continually found their way back into mainstream discourse their influence being increasingly evident in recent decades This first comprehensive study of late Qing fiction discusses more than sixty works at least half of which have rarely or never been dealt with by Western or Chinese scholars Richly informed by contemporary literary theory this book constitutes a polemical rethinking of the nature of Chinese literary and cultural modernity
