Stereotypes and stereotyping in early modern England Koji Yamamoto, 2022-10-25 Early modern stereotypes used to be studied as evidence of popular belief something mired with prejudices and commonly held assumptions Stereotypes and stereotyping in early modern England goes beyond this view by exploring practices of stereotyping as contested processes To do so the volume draws on recent works on social psychology and sociology It thereby brings together early modern case studies and explores how stereotypes and their mobilisation shaped various negotiations of power in spheres of life such as politics religion economy and knowledge production

Stereotyping and Prejudice Daniel Bar-Tal, Carl F. Graumann, Arie W. Kruglanski, Wolfgang Stroebe, 2013-11-11 The study of stereotyping and prejudice is a study of human nature group membership and intergroup relationships It sheds light on each of these aspects of social psychology With respect to the first two it has been observed that since groups provide the best framework for satisfying various human needs individuals continuously organize themselves in collectives They belong to a variety of groups many of which they voluntarily select and some to which they are ascribed Group membership therefore is one of the most salient and important of an individual's characteristics The implication of this characteristic is that human beings not only constantly classify other people into group categories either by identifying membership or constructing their own categories but also judge and evaluate them on this basis The stereotypes and prejudice are outcomes of this process They are the beliefs and attitudes toward members of another group In addition the study of stereotyping and prejudice reflects an interest in inter group relationships While we recognize that a discussion of intergroup relationships may focus on behaviors describing actions such as confrontations violence wars cooperation alliance negotiation or coordination we also believe that each of these intergroup behaviors is mediated by perceptions beliefs and attitudes In the case of intergroup behaviors the listed actions are not performed instinctively or mindlessly but are preceded by cognitive processes which among other outputs involve the formation of stereotypes and prejudice toward the other group

Stereotyping Leadership: An Investigation about Leaders' Perception Elena Tecchiati, 2015-02 The objective of this study is to evaluate gender and cultural differences in the perception of male and female leaders in a feedback situation The research is based upon considerations from a literature review in the fields of gender bias and stereotypes previously conducted Subjects from Spain and Germany were asked to evaluate a director male or female in a fictive feedback situation that was described prior to a short questionnaire The questions of the questionnaire were based on previous research and findings of the literature review We tested if previous experience with a woman leader was related to a higher evaluation of the female leader and if there was a relationship between the previous experience with a female leader and the preference to work for a certain leader's gender Results from the study show that gender culture and previous experience with a female leader had no influence on the leader's evaluation A discussion with possible interpretations of the findings and implication for further research follows

De-stereotyping Indian Body and Desire Kaustav Chakraborty, 2014-03-17 Stereotypes result in deceptive generalizations about groups and are held in a manner that renders them as derogatory As such this volume advocates an active goal oriented effort in order to reduce prejudice through contact Deconstructing the motivated otherizing of the marginalized the book offers an alternative reading of the representations of Indian body and desire in both literature and media that are often politically inscribed as abnormal and unnatural due to their non conformity Poststructural and postcolonial theories have argued that the body is a cultural construct rather than a natural entity This argument is based on the assumption that there is no unalloyed body with any singular signification but there are bodies onto which a multiplicity of meanings are inscribed and enforced The responsibility of this inscription lies with the agencies that hold power in a culture and the infused meanings will consequently facilitate the ideologies of such agencies In other words the bodies of a certain culture are the embodiment of the ideas of those who hold power in that culture The corporality of the body in this sense is a cultural site in which the subtle political ideologies are deftly imposed and accordingly correct and sanctioned desire is expected to germinate Consequently it may be argued that apparently unified or non contradictory bodies of normal desire should be suspected of having subtle hegemonic mechanisms in their formation As a corollary to this an investigation into such abnormal bodies with unnatural desires may have the effect of subverting such a power structure Today s world believes in de stereotyped thinking and stereotyped living Language has already been declared as a means more of camouflage than of revelation As a result there is a need to deconstruct the so called radical representations and expose the undercurrent of the norm Otherization through stereotyping agencies and ideologies motivates racist sexist and other de humanizing positions and perspectives This book which is the outcome of the UGC sponsored National Seminar organised by the Department of English at Southfield College Darjeeling is an endeavour to demystify the politics behind stereotyping and to advocate the justification of de stereotyping As such it represents a significant contribution to numerous disciplines including subaltern studies women and gender studies queer studies and minority discourse

The Romanian Mass Media and Cultural Development David Berry, 2017-07-05 This compelling book assesses the development of the mass media since the Romanian Revolution in December 1989 and the media's impact on cultural development the public sphere civil society and democracy It controversially claims that Romania's failure to experience a thoroughgoing enlightenment project in its entire history remains a major obstacle for producing democratic ownership of the media and democratic development of society Analyzing both the print and broadcast media and their respective effects on development the book also discusses the effects of Romanian law on media and societal development ethics and media responsibilities It concludes however that far from having an absolutely negative impact on Romanian post communism the media has helped produce a contradictory empirical form that equally contains positive moments in terms of subjective cultural development

The psychological process of stereotyping: Content, forming, internalizing, mechanisms, effects, and interventions Baoshan Zhang, Magdalena Zawisza, Fangfang Wen, Junhua Dang, Fengqing Zhao, 2023-02-06

Stereotype is a pervasive and persistent human tendency that stems from a basic cognitive need to categorize simplify and process the complex world This tendency is a precondition for social bias prejudice and discrimination Previous research has mainly focused on the content psychological mechanisms and intervention strategies of negative stereotypes as well as the stereotype threat phenomenon induced by an evaluative context where a negative in group stereotype could be confirmed However there is a lack of research examining the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and the interventions including potential neurocognitive interventions addressing the consequences of negative stereotypes Furthermore as per the Behavioral Immune System BIS theory the very presence of a pathogen is likely to increase stereotyping across various social categories especially in those with a heightened perception of vulnerability to disease Thus stereotypes can be enhanced in the context of pathogen exposure such as the current outbreak of COVID 19 pandemic People exposed to the virus are more likely to suffer from personal and institutional stereotypes and discrimination which may cause negative consequences to personal and social well being Therefore in the current context of global Covid 19 pandemic it is necessary to investigate the increasing biases driven by stereotypes regarding viewing pathogens as a threat which holds across different social categories Specifically what constitutes and shapes stereotypes towards people living in epidemic areas What are the consequences of these short term shaped stereotypes What is the relationship between the consequences of these stereotypes and traditional stereotypes i e stereotypes towards race gender and age Will these short term stereotypes interact with traditional stereotypes to exacerbate discrimination or will the recategorization based on the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic allow people to ignore the traditional inferior social identity and in turn to promote social integration among different groups And how can we prevent the increasing tendency of relying on stereotypes and instead increase pro social behaviors in the Covid 19 context The current Research Topic focuses on understanding the psychological process of forming and internalizing social stereotypes the neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes as well as interventions including potential neurocognitive interventions regarding the consequences of negative stereotypes And we also aim to gather the latest research investigating the broad psychological process of social stereotyping with an emphasis on the implications under the Covid 19 context That is this Research Topic is also interested in the negative stereotypes specific to Covid 19 pandemic as well as relevant preventative interventions aimed at people perceived as at higher Covid 19 exposure risk Theoretical and empirical research from psychology sociology and related fields is welcome Examples of possible themes for manuscripts include but are not limited to the following topics The content of stereotypes Social categorization and discrimination based on stereotypes Traditional stereotypes and their consequences The psychological process of social stereotype formation and internalization The mechanisms including neurocognitive mechanisms of stereotypes and its consequences The stereotype neutralizing interventions including neurocognitive intervention strategies towards negative stereotypes The psychological process of stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The social group categorization and social cohesion during Covid 19 pandemic The interactions between traditional stereotypes towards social groups seen as inferior in the dominant culture and the short term stereotypes during Covid 19 pandemic The strategies of tackling stereotypes in Covid 19 pandemic
