Scottish Art since 1960 Craig Richardson, 2017-07-05 Craig Richardson here addresses key areas of cultural politics and identity in a way that not only illuminates the development of Scottish art but teases out another strand of the plurality of developments which led to the success of artists throughout the UK in the 1990s It is of the highest relevance whether one's perspective is that of the development of the Scottish art British art or European art of this period The book adds significantly to our knowledge of the art of this period in a way that will aid not only our historical understanding but our understanding of the dynamics of art practice today Providing an analysis and including discussion interviewing artists curators and critics and accessing non catalogued personal archives towards a new chronology Richardson here examines and proposes a sequence of precisely denoted exemplary works which outlines a self conscious definition of the interrogative term Scottish art Among the artists whose work is discussed are John Latham Simon Starling Alan Johnston Roderick Buchanan Glen Onwin Christine Borland William Johnstone Joan Eardley Alexander Moffat Douglas Gordon Alan Smith Graeme Fagen Ross Sinclair and many others The discussion culminates in a critically original demonstration of the scope for further research and practice within the subject facilitating national cultural debate on the character of Scottish national visual art An American Passion McLellan Galleries, 1994 Scottish Art in the 20th Century Royal West of England Academy, 1991
