Aspirational Chinese in Competitive Social Repositionings Jia Gao, 2023-08-08 In the past four or so decades a significant amount of research efforts has been made to examine the rapid and constant social changes in China However most of the literature has focused on either macro or micro level issues and what has not been adequately analysed is how the majority of ordinary people has reacted to and influenced the changes This inadequacy has affected our understanding of Chinese society its dynamics and the changing trends Drawing upon a new perspective of competitive social repositioning and the evidence recorded in numerous recent publications and interview data this book seeks to re-examine the ever-changing but under-researched societal dynamics driving social transformations in China from 1964 when the communist heir narrative was rebranded and utilised to 2000 when Jiang Zemin formulated the Three Represents theory to modify the ideological political thinking of China's ruling elites This analysis focuses on how a high proportion of aspirational citizens have kept repositioning themselves in China's changing distributions of social resources and social structure how their attitudes and behaviours have been shaped over time what characteristics of their choices are at different stages and how their preferences have resulted in the zig-zag patterns of China's recent social change growing dissatisfaction with the authoritarian control over history exercised by the Chinese state and often they make use of the new spaces provided for counter hegemonic narratives by social media and the growing private economy in the 2000s Unofficial or independent journals self published books social media groups independent documentary films private museums oral history projects and archival research by amateur historians all of which analyzed in this collection have contributed to these embryonic public or semi public dialogues An excellent guide to the independent journalism cultural production and amateur histories that are transforming the mainstream narrative of the Mao era in China Rich in detail and sound in analysis these studies document the emergence of critical memory in Chinese society A valuable resource for students and scholars Timothy Cheek University of British Columbia author of The Intellectual in Modern Chinese History Popular memories of the Mao era are signposts of contemporary politics and culture This volume features exciting new research by distinguished scholars Extremely rich and readable the chapters in this collection illuminate both China's past and present A timely and important contribution Guobin Yang University of Pennsylvania author of The Red Guard Generation and Political Activism in China Red Revolution, Green Revolution Sigrid Schmalzer, 2016-01-20 In 1968 the director of USAID coined the term green revolution to celebrate the new technological solutions that promised to ease hunger around the world and forestall the spread of more red or socialist revolutions Yet in China where modernization and scientific progress could not be divorced from politics green and red revolutions proceeded side by side In Red Revolution Green Revolution Sigrid Schmalzer explores the intersection of politics and agriculture in socialist China through the diverse experiences of scientists peasants state agents and educated youth The environmental costs of chemical intensive agriculture and the human costs of emphasizing increasing production over equitable distribution of food and labor have been felt as strongly in China as anywhere and yet as Schmalzer shows Mao era challenges to technocracy laid important groundwork for today's sustainability and food justice movements This history of scientific farming in China offers us a unique opportunity not only to explore the consequences of modern agricultural technologies but also to engage in a necessary rethinking of fundamental assumptions about science and society The Red Guard Generation and Political Activism in China Guobin Yang, 2016-05-17 Raised to be flowers of the nation the first generation born after the founding of the People's Republic of China was united in its political outlook and at first embraced the Cultural Revolution of 1966 but then split into warring factions Investigating the causes of this fracture Guobin Yang argues that Chinese youth engaged in an imaginary revolution from 1966 to 1968 enacting a political mythology that encouraged violence as a way to prove one's revolutionary credentials This same competitive dynamic would later turn the Red Guard against the communist government Throughout the 1970s the majority of Red Guard youth were sent to work in rural villages where they developed an appreciation for the values of ordinary life From this experience an underground cultural movement was born Rejecting idolatry these relocated revolutionaries developed a new form of resistance that signaled a new era of enlightenment culminating in the Democracy

Wall movement of the late 1970s and the Tiananmen protest of 1989 Yang's final chapter on the politics of history and memory argues that contemporary memories of the Cultural Revolution are factionalized along these lines of political division formed fifty years before
