Mac OS X Leopard Mike Lee,Scott Meyers,2008-05-14 Good computer books make assumptions about the reader what they do and don't know when they pick up the book and what they want to know when they put it down For each reader this could be very different therefore a book that suits one person may not be the best for another Mac OS X Leopard Beyond the Manual makes some assumptions too ones that tend to differ from other Mac OS X books First of all we assume that you have used a computer in that past that you know how to use a mouse and you know the proper place to stick a DVD to get it to play in your computer We won't be showing you these things We will however demonstrate to our Mac converts how to right click on a trackpad with only one button Second we assume you know what you want to do with your computer We won't waste your time showing you specifically step by step how to order a pizza from Pizza Galaxy in Milwaukee Wisconsin with Safari though when you're done with this book we think you'll be able to do this just fine if such a place exists anyway Finally we assume that you are a reasonably intelligent person who realizes the value of such phrases as Give a man a fish you have fed him for today Teach a man to fish and you have fed him for a lifetime and can imagine how that might apply to a computer book If this sounds like you then we think you'll find this book rewarding Inside you will find everything you need to get up to speed with Mac OS X Leopard including Using the standard included Leopard applications including Mail Safari Preview and more Taking advantage of the Darwin subsystem in Leopard Learning all the ins and outs of the Finder and Leopards improved interface Administering your computer for yourself and for others Working with other computers and operating systems from you Mac Configuring the network to take full advantage of the powerful networking capabilities in Leopard Working with add on devices via USB Firewire and Bluetooth Effectively implementing data backup recovery and security Getting started with OS X development in Leopard Office 2001 for Macintosh: The Missing Manual Nan Barber,David Reynolds,2001-05-03 To the surprise of most Mac fans the number one bestselling Macintosh software is Microsoft Office for the Macintosh It's by far the most popular Macintosh software and the first software purchase a new Mac user is likely to make And for the first time Office 2001 comes without a single page of printed instructions The packaging is a five inch square clear plastic case housing the CD ROM and little else Fortunately Pogue Press O'Reilly is once again ready to embrace the befuddled and overwhelmed with Office 2001 for Macintosh The Missing Manual It tackles each of the primary Office applications with depth humor and clarity and provides relief for the hapless Mac user who'd rather read professionally written printed instructions than hunt through a maze of personality free help screens The book is structured to help the beginner as well as the seasoned user Part One provides an overview of Word From What's New to Basic Word Processing to Document Design to Advanced Word Processing with in depth details on creating Web pages and performing mail merges using Word Part Two covers the new Palm syncable calendar in Entourage including all aspects of email how to best use the calendar and address book and crucial information on the Palm Hotsync Part three explains all the finer points of Excel including Microsoft's exciting new List Manager specifically designed for creating and manipulating lists without the prerequisite of learning spreadsheet tools Office 2001 for Macintosh The Missing Manual is coauthored by a dream team of Missing Manual alumni David Reynolds executive editor of MacAddict magazine and coauthor of AppleWorks 6 The Missing Manual and Nan Barber whose efforts as the copy editor of the first four Missing Manual titles gave her an intuitive feeling for the friendly funny authoritative voice of the series Once again the authors are joined by series founder David Pogue who has closely edited the book to ensure excellence of depth accuracy and prose

Collecting, Processing and Presenting Geoscientific Information Martin H. Trauth, Elisabeth Sillmann, 2018-03-26 This second edition is an intensively revised and updated version of the book MATLAB and Design Recipes for Earth Sciences It aims to introduce students to the typical course followed by a data analysis project in earth sciences A project usually involves searching relevant literature reviewing and ranking published books and journal articles extracting relevant information from the literature in the form of text data or graphs searching and processing the relevant original data using MATLAB and compiling and presenting the results as posters abstracts and oral presentations using graphics design software The text of this book includes numerous examples on the use of internet resources on the visualization of data with MATLAB and on preparing scientific presentations As with the book MATLAB Recipes for Earth Sciences 4rd Edition 2015 which demonstrates the use of statistical and numerical methods on earth science data this book uses state of the art software packages including MATLAB and the Adobe Creative Suite to process and present geoscientific information collected during the course of an earth science project The book's supplementary electronic material available online through the publisher's website includes color versions of all figures recipes with all the MATLAB commands featured in the book the example data exported MATLAB graphics and screenshots of the most important steps involved in processing the graphics
