Building and Negotiating Religious Identities in a Zen Buddhist Temple Fan Zhang, 2019-06-27 This book explores the practices in a Zen Buddhist temple located in Northwest Ohio against the backdrop of globalization Drawing on the previous studies on Buddhist modernization and westernization it provides a better understanding of the westernization of Buddhism and its adapted practices and rituals in the host culture Using rhetorical criticism methodology the author approaches this temple as an embodiment of Buddhist rhetoric with both discursive and non discursive expressions within the discourses of modernity By analyzing the rhetorical practices at the temple through abbots teaching videos the temple website members dharma names and the materiality of the temple space and artifacts the author discovers how Buddhist rhetoric functions to constitute and negotiate the religious identities of the community members through its various rituals and activities At the same time the author examines how the temple s space and settings facilitate the collective the formation and preservation of the Buddhist identity Through a nuanced discussion of Buddhist rhetoric this book illuminates a new rhetorical methodology to understand religious identity construction Furthermore it offers deeper insights into the future development of modern Buddhism which are also applicable to Buddhist practitioners and other major world religions 1 and 2 Kings August H. Chronicles and the Politics of Davidic Restoration David Janzen, 2017-05-18 David Janzen argues that the Book of Chronicles is a document with a political message as well as a theological one and moreover that the book s politics explain its theology The author of Chronicles was part of a 4th century B C E group within the post exilic Judean community that hoped to see the Davidides restored to power and he or she composed this work to promote a restoration of this house to the position of a client monarchy within the Persian Empire Once this is understood as the political motivation for the work s composition the reasons behind the Chronicler s particular alterations to source material and emphasis of certain issues becomes clear The doctrine of immediate retribution the role of all Israel at important junctures in Judah s past the promotion of Levitical status and authority the virtual joint reign of David and Solomon and the decision to begin the narrative with Saul's death can all be explained as ways in which the Chronicler tries to assure the 4th century assembly that a change in local government to Davidic client rule would benefit them. It is not necessary to argue that Chronicles is either pro Davidic or pro Levitical; it is both, and the attention Chronicles pays to the Levites is done in the service of winning over a group within the temple personnel to the pro Davidic cause, just as many of its other features were designed to appeal to other interest groups within the assembly.

Re-enchanting Modernity Mayfair Yang, 2020-05-15 In Re-enchanting Modernity, Mayfair Yang examines the resurgence of religious and ritual life after decades of enforced secularization in the coastal area of Wenzhou, China. Drawing on twenty-five years of ethnographic fieldwork, Yang shows how the local practices of popular religion, Daoism, and Buddhism are based in community-oriented grassroots organizations that create spaces for relative local autonomy and self-governance. Central to Wenzhou's religious civil society is what Yang calls a ritual economy in which an ethos of generosity is expressed through donations to temples, clerics, ritual events, and charities in exchange for spiritual gain. With these investments in transcendent realms, Yang adopts Georges Bataille's notion of ritual expenditures to challenge the idea that rural Wenzhou's economic development can be described in terms of Max Weber's notion of a Protestant Ethic. Instead, Yang suggests that Wenzhou's ritual economy forges an alternate path to capitalist modernity.

Religion-State Encounters in Hindu Domains Vineeta Sinha, 2011-04-07 The historical and empirical project presented here is grounded in a desire to theorize religion-state relations in the multi-ethnic, multi-religious, secular city-state of Singapore. The core research problematic of this project has emerged out of the confluence of two domains: religion, law, and bureaucracy; and religion and colonial encounters. This work has two core objectives: one to articulate the actual points of engagement between institutions of religion and the state, and two to identify the various processes, mechanisms, and strategies through which relations across these spheres are sustained. The thematic foundations of this book rest on disentangling the complex interactions between religious communities, individuals, and the various manifestations of the Singapore state relationships that are framed within a culture of bureaucracy. This is accomplished through a scrutiny of Hindu domains on the island nation-state from her identity as part of the Straits Settlements to the present day. The empirical and analytical emphases of this book rest on the author's engagement with the realm of Hinduism as it is conceived, structured, framed, and practiced within the context of a strong state in Singapore today. Ethnographically, the book focusses on Hindu temple management and the observance of Hindu festivals and processions enacted within administrative and bureaucratic frames Annual Report Archaeological Survey of India, 1926-1927 includes list of Archaeological reports published under official authority The American Home Missionary, 1911 Religion in Chinese Society C.
