

"The collaborators in this volume have focused on how real/actual presidents have been depicted in motion pictures and how those portraits have contributed to the historical reputation and image of the office holders. There is no end to the study of and interest in the presidency in film. Every possible perspective on the topic of the presidency is of value these days as the chief executive's power increases beyond traditional boundaries."

— Peter C. Rollins, Oklahoma State University and winner of the 2011 Oklahoma Humanities Award

"In its exploration of the murky borderlands between history and fiction, politics and entertainment, Morgan and company offer a thoughtful and fascinating exploration of the complex relationship between Hollywood and the American presidency. In so doing, Presidents in the Movies reminds us that films shape, as well as reflect, the spirit of their times."

— Daniel Frick, Franklin and Marshall College and author of Reinventing Richard Nixon: A Cultural History of an American Obsession

Focusing on cinematic depictions of real U.S. presidents from Abraham Lincoln to George W. Bush, this volume explores Hollywood's representation of American history and politics on screen. Morgan and his contributors show how films blend myth and reality to present a positive message about presidents as the epitome of America's values and idealism until unpopular foreign wars in Vietnam and Iraq led to a darker portrayal of the imperial presidency, operated by Richard Nixon and George W. Bush. This exciting new collection further considers how Hollywood has continually reinterpreted historically significant presidents, notably Abraham Lincoln, Theodore Roosevelt, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, to fit the times in which movies about them were made.

IWAN W. MORGAN is Professor of U.S. Studies and Director of the United States Presidency Centre at the Institute for the Study of the Americas. He has written widely on the presidency, including Nixon (2002). His most recent book, The Age of Deficits: Presidents and Unbalanced Budgets from Jimmy Carter to George W. Bush (2009), won the American Politics Group's Richard E. Neustadt Prize.
